BECK ACCUSED OF THEFT

GUNS GUARD HUSSEIN'S PALACE — An armored car equipped with machine guns, manned by local Jordanian troops stands in front of the Royal Palace at Amman. It is one of many that ring the palace to protect it and the person of King Hussein. The monarch, through the Army, now rules Jordan under martial law. At bottom are shown some of the Communist demonstrators in front of the heavily guarded Parliament Building, shortly before martial law had been declared by King Hussein.

New Arab 'Summit' Conference Expected

By UNITED PRESS

Jordan's King Hussein returned today to his capital of Amman from talks with anti-Communist King Saud of Saudi Arabia that could lead to a new alignment of power in the Middle East.

An Amman dispatch said a "major announcement" was expected there later in the day—possibly an agreement for a new four-power Arab "summit" conference to try to reunify Mideast policies after Jordan's upheaval.

But whether the four-power solidarity of Jordan, Egypt, Syria and Saudi Arabia could continue in the same form as before appeared doubtful. A Jerusalem dispatch said that only Saud's intervention saved Jordan from being carved up by its neighbors.

The Jerusalem dispatch said informed observers there believed King Saud had warned the Syrian and Egyptian delegates which visited him in Mecca this weekend that the United States intended to intervene militarily if they tried to tear Jordan apart.

Syria Apprehensive

Syria was reported apprehensive that Jordan reach an agreement with the West—a move that could encourage the pro-Western elements now suppressed in Syria. Cairo dispatches said Egypt and Syria were anxious to keep Jordan within their neutralist fold despite Hussein's move toward the West.

Hussein flew Sunday to Riyadh, political center of Saudi Arabia, for talks with the King whose Saudi troops backed up Hussein at height of Jordan's crisis and even helped maintain order in the troubled area on the West bank of the Jordan River.

His visit came just one day after Syrian President Soukri El Kuwatli and Wing Cmdr. Ali Sabry of Egypt, chief political adviser to President Gamal Abdel Nasser, returned home from their talks with Saud.

Reports circulating in Amman said Kuwatli had proposed an-

Three Youths Fortunate in Local Crash

Three young persons narrowly escaped serious injury late Saturday night when the car in which they were riding slammed into a parked car near the intersection of Eighth St. and Donner Ave. in Monessen, police said today.

According to police, a car operated by Harry D. Theakston, 20, of 210 Wood St., Belle Vernon, was traveling "at a high rate of speed" on Donner Ave. when the accident occurred. Police said the Theakston car passed another vehicle, went out of control and crashed into a parked car belonging to Joseph Annis, of Weirton, W. Va., completely demolishing both cars and damaging a parking meter.

Two passengers with Theakston were slightly injured. Joyce Lange, 16, of 521 Fallowfield Ave., Charleroi, suffered a bruised forehead and Warren DeMoss, Jr., 18 of R. D. 1, Fayette City, son of the owner of the car, sustained bruises about the face. Miss Lange was treated at Charleroi-Monessen Hospital and released. Theakston was not hurt.

Theakston will be charged with traveling too fast for conditions.

Both cars were towed away.

Community Room At Civic Center Is Redecorated

The community room at Monessen Memorial Civic Center has been completely redecorated and will be used as a meeting room for local organizations, Glenn Barnes, Center chairman, announced today.

The room was painted by Monessen Jaycees. Furniture was donated by local furniture stores and the Business and Professional Woman's Club have provided special furniture coverings. New drapes are to be installed this week.

The present boxing room Barnes said, will be converted into another meeting room. The boxing room will be moved to another location in the building.

Barnes also announced that Catharine Harris has been appointed chairman of the nominating committee and will be assisted by Harold T. Baker and Mrs. Olive Travis.

Food Registration

Registration for new federal surplus food recipients only will be held at CIO 1229 hall on Thursday, May 9 from 11 a. m. to 12 noon, it was announced today.

Cabinet Members To Quit

WASHINGTON (UP) — Five members of President Eisenhower's cabinet may resign soon, according to informed GOP circles.

Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson and Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey, previously have been reported ready to return to private life.

The GOP circles said the three other cabinet members who may bow out soon are Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks and Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield.

Wilson and Humphrey were expected to stay on until after the outcome of the congressional fights over appropriations, defense and taxes.

Wilson's resignation has been rumored, and denied, for months.

Reports that Humphrey is leaving sprang up again last week and the Treasury secretary himself dropped a strong hint that he plans to resign soon. Humphrey said it was well known that he had "been in the cabinet much longer than I originally planned."

Three names have been mentioned as possible replacements for Humphrey. They are Robert B. Anderson, a Texas Eisenhower Democrat and former deputy defense secretary; Undersecretary of Treasury W. Randolph Burgess, and Lewis W. Douglas, former ambassador to Britain and one-time budget director under President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Should Dulles leave, Undersecretary of State Christian A. Herter, former governor of Massachusetts, would be a likely successor. Deputy Defense Secretary Donald A. Quarles, recently moved up from secretary of air, was described as Wilson's most likely successor if the defense chief departs.

Leader-Furman Split Rumored Over Torquato

GALLITZIN, Pa. (UP)—Political circles buzzed today with rumors of a split between Gov. George M. Leader and Lt. Gov. Roy Furman because of the latter's praise of Cambria County Democratic leader John R. Torquato.

Furman set the rumors flying with a speech Saturday night in which he lauded Torquato as "one of the great Democratic leaders in the state."

Torquato was filed as state secretary of labor and industry by Leader in January following disclosure of alleged irregularities in the administration of a special fund in his department.

Furman told a Democratic primary kickoff dinner that Torquato played a "big role" in gains made by the working man in the 1955 legislature. He said these included an improved unemployment compensation act, better workmen's compensation laws and a fair employment practices bill.

"The budget submitted by Torquato's department was one of the best in the Commonwealth," he told his listeners.

Furman said the Democratic Party in Cambria County obtained its "greatest political successes" under Torquato's chairmanship.

Anti-Parente Policemen To Patrol Park Areas

Monessen's city administration killed two birds with one stone today.

Chief of Police Michael Kuvinka assigned two policemen to walking beats in the city's parks in an effort to check vandalism.

And he "happened" to select for this duty two policemen known to be opposing the renomination of his boss, Mayor Hugo Parente.

Kuvinka assigned Patrolman Michael Ferencz, a former chief, and leading supporter of Parente, to patrol the City Park area from 5 p. m. to 1 a. m. daily.

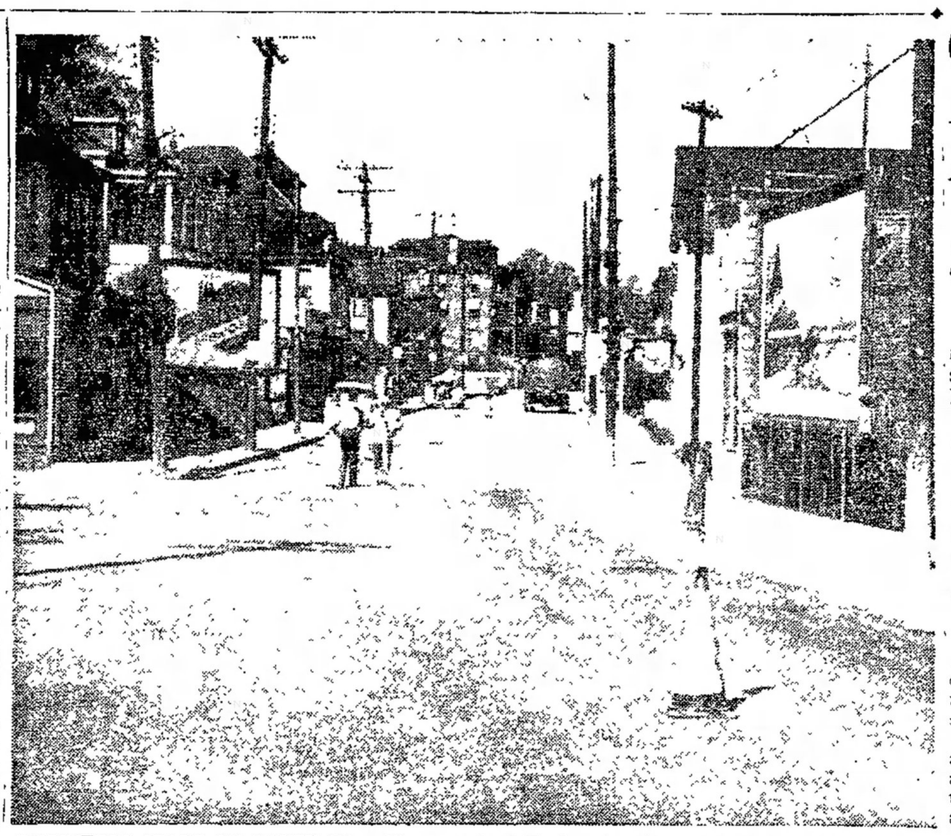
Ferencz is now an active backer of the Mayor's opponent for the Democratic nomination, John R. Stieska.

Assigned to guard Sixth St. Park and Ninth St. Park is Patrolman Phillip Panepinto, also a former supporter of Parente's who is reported to be off the political reservation in the current campaign. City Council last week recommended that "full-pledged" policemen be assigned to the parks in an effort to curb destruction of property.

Kuvinka was asked today why he chose Ferencz and Panepinto for the duty.

"There are no special reasons," he replied.

But other members of the police force, which is known to be split between Parente and Stieska, thought possibly politics had something to do with Kuvinka's choices for nightime park duty.



ENGINEERS START ON ROUTE 906 — Westmoreland Engineering Co. of Monessen consulting engineers, this morning began surveying the Monessen-Webster Rd., Rt. 906. Gerald Vitale, of the engineering firm, said this phase of the project will take about six months. Once the survey is completed and approved by the state, work will begin on cutting back the rock-lined hillside of the hazardous road. A new four-lane highway will be installed. Total cost of the project is listed at $1,600,000.

Postal Emergency 'Blessing In Disguise'—Summerfield

WASHINGTON (UP) — Postmaster General Arthur A. Summerfield said today that the recent postal "emergency has been a blessing in disguise" because it focused public attention on his department's problems.

"Now many more of our citizens understand that their post office must have everyone's help if this nation is to enjoy the postal service our people deserve and expect," Summerfield said.

The postal "emergency" he referred to was caused by the recent shortage of funds to keep the Post Office Department operating at full tilt until the beginning of the new fiscal year July 1.

When Congress was slow in giving Summerfield the funds he demanded, he began making some drastic curtailments in service. The cuts were called off when Congress came through with the money.

Summerfield addressed the 45th annual meeting of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

'Friendship' Plea

Earlier, delegates to the meeting heard the Chamber's president, John S. Coleman, voice a plea that labor "be friends" with management and stop advocating legislation "that would hurt business."

He said "it is foolishness" for labor and management "to work at cross purposes."

Coleman also urged labor to clean its house of corruption. He said labor is "standing before the bar of public opinion" as a result of the Senate Rackets Committee investigation.

Summerfield appealed to the Chamber to support the administration's bill now before Congress to raise postal rates. He said the department is running its "business on 1957 costs and, by and large, receiving 1933 selling prices." Unless rates are increased, he said, the postal deficit will be 631 million dollars in the next fiscal year.

Coleman told the Chamber that "every labor union headquarters in the country is feeling the impact" of the Senate Rackets Committee investigation.

"Labor today is promising to clean up its own room and sweep clean its house," he said. "I hope so."

'Most Revolting' Murder Solved In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — A murder described as the "most revolting" Chief Detective Inspector John F. Kelly had known in his years on the force was solved Sunday when three 16-year-old boys admitted the robbery - slaying of James Harkins in his South Philadelphia grocery store last Sept. 26.

Kelly identified the three as James (Sonny) Brown, Walter (Wally Boy) Goldsmith and Eugene (Chuckles) Floyd, all negroes.

The trio was originally rounded up during an investigation of a neighborhood war between two gangs known as "The Barbarians" and "The 12th and Peters Gang," Kelly said. The three confessed slayers belonged to the former group.

The detective inspector said solution of the slaying which was on the police "top priority" list came after more than a score of detectives questioned every teenager arrested in the area since the crime.

Harkins, a mild mannered 59-year-old bachelor, and an employe of the American Stores for 40 years, was found slain behind a blood drenched counter in the store with four deep gashes in his head.

Brownsville Man Seeking Damages

Charles Cazen, of 107 Third St. Brownsville has filed a suit to recover more than $2,500 in damages from Lloyd Gregg, of R. D. 1, Fredericktown and Lester Pitle of the Pitle Brothers Coal Co., of Charleroi.

The alleged accident occurred Dec. 28, 1956, in Brownsville. Cazen said his machine was struck by a truck driven by Gregg and owned by the coal firm.

Cazen claims he sustained severe and permanent injuries.

Refrigerator Fire At Home Saturday

Fire which broke out in a refrigerator caused interior damage to the home of Andrew Dacko at 6 Huston Ave. in Monessen's Montraver Plan about 6:45 p. m. Saturday.

The city's two fire companies answered the alarm. The blaze was extinguished with a booster pump. Dense smoke covered the interior of the home.

Damage was not estimated.

$150 Found in Barn; Everyone Is Claiming It

NEW CASTLE, Pa. (UP) —State police said today a court decision probably will be needed to assign ownership of $150 found in a Lawrence County barn by three boys.

Six persons have laid claim to the money. Albert Beedle, 8, George Smaroch, 9, and Ronald Newtzie, 9, who came upon the cash while playing in the barn, assert "finders, keepers" should apply.

James Slowkowski on the property, asserted his claim to the cash when he heard of the boys' find. Mrs. Harry Klingensmith asked for the money because she owns the property.

Mrs. Ella Kalajainen, who sold the farm to Mrs. Klingensmith two years ago, said she should have the cash because it was hidden in the barn by her nephew, Jacob Kalajainen, who died six years ago.

State police are holding the money in escrow.

Fayette County to Get Fire Network

Fayette County's first five radio network is expected to be completed by June 1, it was announced today.

The transmitting building [illegible] being erected at Pond Bank for towers near Uniontown.

All fire trucks and ambulances operated by the 45 fire companies in the county will be equipped with mobile radio units to communicate with the new central radio center.

Former Local Child Hurt in Accident

Richard Jamison, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jamison, former Monessen residents now residing in Ambridge, remains on the critical list in Sewickley Hospital with injuries sustained when he was hit by a car in Ambridge last week.

The boy suffered a possible skull fracture, broken left leg and multiple bruises about the face and body.

His mother is the former Emma Shaner, of Monessen. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Jones, of 135 Schoonmaker Ave., Monessen.

Horse Race Betting Debate Opens Today

HARRISBURG (UP) — [illegible] Senate squared off today for what promises to be the most bitter debate of the 1957 session on the question of "limited home race betting for Pennsylvania."

Supporters were confident they could push the bipartisan measure for a statewide referendum through the House of Representatives. But opponents felt equally certain they could muster enough votes in the showdown to give the proposal the same fate it met in past sessions.

Senate Minority Leader John H. Dent (D-Westmoreland), a co-sponsor, said he had "17 or 18" party votes for the referendum bill. [illegible] with the help of [illegible] votes to push it across with the required 26 vote majority.

Although the proposal has remained on the Senate work calendar for more than a week, Senate Majority Leader Rowland B. Mahany (R-Crawford) has promised a three-cornered debate this afternoon and a final vote on passage or rejection.

On another front, the joint House-Senate Appropriations Committee plans to wind up its hearings on Gov. George M. Leader's budget by mid-week and then begin the job of paring department requests to fit the GOP pattern of a $1,500,000,000 fiscal blueprint for the next two years.

[illegible] 100 million dollars less than the governor requested. The Senate [illegible] and the House a [illegible] 450 [illegible] meeting Tuesday.

Adjourn 4 p. m. First National Bank, Dugout.

Counsel Claims He Can Prove $320,000 Haul

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Senate Rackets Committee has a "good deal more" information on Teamsters Union chief Dave Beck, committee counsel Robert Kennedy said Sunday night.

Kennedy also expressed confidence the committee could prove that Beck stole $320,000 in Teamster funds.

Kennedy also expressed confidence the committee could prove that Beck stole $320,000 in Teamster funds.

Kennedy, appearing on the NBC-TV program "Meet The Press," was asked if the committee could "prove in a court of law" its accusation that Beck "took" $320,000 in Teamster funds for his own use.

"I think that without question we could prove that Mr. Beck stole the $320,000," replied Kennedy.

Lot More Information

He said the committee has a lot more information on Beck than disclosed in previous hearings and said the Teamster chief will be given "an opportunity to come in and refute" the data "if he wants to."

Kennedy said the new matter involves companies in which Beck "had a financial interest that have dealings with the Teamsters Union." He said the "information that we will develop" will be of interest to the AFL - CIO Ethical Practices Committee, which is already considering Beck's case, as well as to the labor movement as a whole and the public.

The rackets committee scheduled a public hearing this afternoon to give Earl P. Bettendorf, a Texarkana, Tex., businessman, a chance to explain why he was not indicted along with two Teamster Union leaders accused of accepting money from him.

Texan Not Indicted

Bettendorf asked to appear after committee chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) said the committee would ask the Justice Department why the Texan was not indicted. Teamster Union business agents Joseph McHugh and Robert Mailoy of Scranton, Pa., are under federal indictment for extorting $4,200 from Bettendorf.

The committee pressed a search for four long-missing witnesses in its investigation of Beck and his Teamster Union. They are Beck's son, two of Beck's wife's relatives and a Teamster Union auditor.

Kennedy said the son and two relatives are wanted for questioning because they hold "prominent roles in certain companies that have had financial dealings" with the Teamsters.

Pittsburgh Steel Sponsors Tour Of Science Fair

Pittsburgh Steel Co. officials will play host to a group of Monongahela Valley science teachers today on a tour of the school science fair at Buhl Planetarium.

Pittsburgh Steel, which has awarded two science and industry awards at the current fair, hopes to encourage student competition among valley students.

Company officials will take the group of 30 teachers from groups in Rostraver, Belle Vernon, Charleroi, Monessen, Donora and Monongahela areas by chartered bus to Pittsburgh.

There the group will have dinner at the Press Club then go to the Planetarium where they will see more than 1,000 exhibits and also the Sky Show.

Donald C. Duvall, vice president-operations and assistant to the president, is in charge of the tour.

Winners of the two Pittsburgh Steel awards include:

Kathi Mitchell, an eighth grader at Carroll Township, who won $25 for her "spectrum analysis exhibit." Mona Rae Williams is her teacher.

James Phillips and Jerry Green, a 14-year-old team from Hickory, who also won $25 for an exhibit on the "Frasch Process." Their teacher is Robert W. Schaille.

More than 1,000 school children are competing in the 18th annual School Science Fair.

VFW Post Here Wins Prize In Greensburg

Monessen's Allison-Le-Canne Post 1190 Veterans of Foreign Wars Post was a prize winner in Westmoreland County's third annual Loyalty Day parade held Saturday in Greensburg.

More than 91 units took part in the big parade, which is held annually to counteract the Communist May Day celebration.

Post 1190 was judged first for having the most men in line for a VFW or American Legion unit.

Thousands of spectators lined the parade route with the balance of the prize winners as follows:

Ligonier, first, Trafford, second for best senior high school band. Derry VFW best senior band. Youngwood, first and Tarentum, second, best drum and bugle corps. Crabtree, best junior drum and bugle corps. Trafford, best appearing American Legion unit; Greensburg Post 33 best appearing VFW unit; Norvelt, best appearing fire truck.

Southeast Greensburg, first and Hempfield, second for best junior high school band. Greensburg VFW, best drill team; and Ligonier Scouts most men in line other units.

Local Scout Gets Stuck in Muddy Hole

A Monessen Boy Scout, Robert Bates, 12, of 1336 Summit Ave., had a narrow escape while on a hike in Monessen Park Plan late Saturday afternoon.

Bates and a fellow Scout, James Tassi, 14, of 1770 Athalia Ave., were hiking through an area being excavated when Bates stepped into a ditch being dug for a sewer. The youth became stuck up to his hips in the muddy hole.

Several passersby tried to extricate him but their attempts proved futile until one of the passersby drained water from the hole. They then managed to "jiggle" him free, police said.

He suffered no apparent injuries, according to a local physician.

Alex Snyder Patient In Veterans Hospital

Alex Snyder, veteran Monessen policeman, is in "critical" condition in the Veterans Administration Hospital in Oakland, Pittsburgh.

Snyder, desk sergeant and a former chief of police, was taken to the hospital in an ambulance Saturday morning after suffering a hemorrhage.

A member of the Snyder family said no visitors are permitted.

Weekend Traffic Death Record Hits New Low

Only Five Die In Accidents Since Friday

By UNITED PRESS

Traffic fatalities on Pennsylvania highways during the week end dropped to one of the lowest levels recorded this year.

Five persons were killed in automobile accidents. One person died Friday night, one Saturday and three Sunday.

The fatalities:

Corry: Edward Jukes, 58, Columbus, Pa., was injured fatally when his automobile was struck headon by a machine driven by Louis Rizzo, 39, North East, Sunday according to state police. Rizzo suffered a fractured leg, and Jukes' wife, Hazel, 57, fractures of a rib and leg.

Upper Dublin: Robert Petty, 36 North Wales, was killed Sunday and seven other persons were injured when two cars collided during a hail storm.

Hershey: Mrs. L B. Ferucci, 32, Hershey, was killed when the automobile driven by her husband struck another machine at an intersection here Sunday.

Brookville: Howard Bring, 32 Verona, was injured fatally Friday night when his car left a highway 13 miles north of here and crashed.

Bedford: H. Ray Showalter, 19, Martinsburg, was killed Saturday when the truck he was driving skidded off a highway in Woodbury Twp during a heavy fog and ran over an embankment.

Former Sheriff Testifies Before Pardons Probers

HARRISBURG (UP)—Former Philadelphia Sheriff Austin Meehan was to testify today before the state Pardons Board Investigating Committee at the scheduled windup of the public hearing phase of the three-month inquiry.

Meehan, a long-time Republican leader in Philadelphia, was called to tell the investigators what part if any he played in obtaining executive clemency for Lester E. Gore, former secretary of the Philadelphia Zoning Board.

Gore was convicted of lying to a special grand jury investigating bribery and sentenced in 1950 to a 1-3 year prison term. His sentence was commuted to eight months, and Gov. John S. Fine granted him a full pardon in 1955.

A letter to Meehan from Gore's wife was found in the Pardon Board file of the case. The letter urged Meehan to assist in obtaining Gore's release.

Today's hearing was expected to be the final public session of the committee, and Rep. Edwin W. Tompkins (R-Cameron), chairman, said that unless "new facts or evidence" was uncovered by Meehan's testimony, the committee will turn to writing its report to the Legislature which is due May 11.

Ike's Grandson Honored by Scouts

WASHINGTON (UP)—Thirteen Eagle Scouts trooped to the White House today to enroll President Eisenhower's grandson, David, as an honorary tenderfoot in the Boy Scouts.

David is only eight years old and too young to become a Scout officially.

Eagle Scout David Hoffman of Troop 46, Mitchell Air Force Base, N.Y., carried with him a Cub neckerchief for young David.

The 13 Scouts planned to present a plaque making President and Mrs. Eisenhower honorary Scout father and mother. Eisenhower already is honorary president of the Boy Scouts of America.

Record Guggenheim Fellowships Awarded

NEW YORK (UP) — The John Simon Guggenheim Foundation today announced award of a record 341 grants totalling $1,500,000 to artists and scholars throughout the country.

It was the largest number of fellowships and the largest outlay of money grants ever given by the foundation in a single year.

The fellowships are granted persons of unusual capacity for scholarly research, based on their past records, and to persons who have demonstrated unusual and proven creative ability in the fine arts, the Foundation announcement said.

The Foundation was established in 1925 by the late United States Senator from Colorado, Simon Guggenheim and his wife, in memory of their son, John Simon, who died in 1922. Mrs. Guggenheim is president of the Foundation.

Fellowship recipients in Pennsylvania included:

William Barnett, painter; instructor in painting and drawing, Philadelphia Museum School of Art: Creative painting.

Virgil David Cantini, Assistant Professor of Fine Arts, University of Pittsburgh: Creative design in enamels.

Dr. George Arthur Codding, Jr. Assistant professor of Political Science, University of Pennsylvania: A study of international postal communication.

Dr. J. Jean Hecht, Associate Professor of History, Haverford College: A study of the upper class family in 18th century England.

Dr. John O Honnold, Jr., Professor of Law, University of Pennsylvania. Studies of the law governing sales of goods under civil law systems.

Dr. Juan Augusto Lopez Marichal, Associate Professor of Spanish, Bryn Mawr College: A study of Manuel Azana, President of the Second Spanish Republic.

Dr. Foil Allan Miller, Head of the Spectroscopy Division, Mellon Institute, Pittsburgh: Studies in the field of nuclear magnetic resonance.

Dr. Lorne Albert Page, Associate Professor of Physics, University of Pittsburgh: Study of photons, electrons and positrons by precision beta-ray and gamma-ray spectroscopy techniques.

Dr. Raymond Pepinsky, Professor of Physics, Pennsylvania State University: Studies of the crystal design of salts of complex and organic ions.

Ned Rorem, Composer, Philadelphia: Musical composition.

Five Nominees For the Senate's 'Hall of Fame'

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. John Marshall Butler (R-Md.) today submitted his five nominees for the Senate's "hall of fame" and offered oil paintings of four of them to be hung in the Senate reception room.

His choices: Henry Clay of Kentucky, John C. Calhoun of South Carolina, Daniel Webster of Massachusetts, Robert M. LaFollette Sr. of Wisconsin, and Robert A. Taft of Ohio.

Butler accompanied his nominations with oil portraits of Clay, Calhoun, Webster and Taft which were painted by Mrs. Judith Webster of Chevy Chase, Md., a graduate of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts.

He said Mrs. Webster has been working on a portrait of LaFollette for several months, but had to take time off to have her fifth child.

His entries were submitted to Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), chairman of the special committee named to select five deceased senators to be honored in the chamber's "hall of fame."

The committee is reported to have agreed on Clay and Webster, but to be still undecided on the other three.

Counterfeiters Gang Roundup

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Police and secret service agents today sought a fourth member of an alleged counterfeit ring who is reported to have $45,000 in bogus money.

He was identified as Carl Robey, who escaped from a jail at Fairmont, W. Va., more than a year ago. Three other men were under arrest in Fairmont.

Authorities said Harry A. Waite, one of the suspects, admitted printing $45,000 in counterfeit one and five dollar bills at Miami, Fla., and implicated Robey as the distributor for the money in the Pittsburgh district.

The counterfeit bills still are in circulation here.

The Israelites are believed to have first entered the land of Cannan, now Israel, about 1400 B.C.

OLYMPIAN COUPLE VISITS CAPITAL — Harold Connolly, of Boston, Mass., U. S. Olympic hammer throwing champion, and his bride, the former Olga Fikotova, who won a gold medal for Red Czechoslovakia in the Olympic decathlon, are sightseeing in Washington. They were wed in Prague on March 27 after a long involvement in Iron Curtain red tape.

NEW AMBASSADOR — President Eisenhower named Llewllyn Thompson (above), presently Ambassador to Austria, to succeed Charles E. (Chip) Bohlen as Ambassador to Russia. Thompson, a 52-year-old career diplomat, has been in the Austrian post since 1952. He is fluent in Russian and served with Bohlen as interpreter at the 1955 Big Four conference in Geneva.

Floods Sweep Over Texas

DALLAS, Tex. (UP)—Nine major rivers and countless streams today poured flood waters over Texas where people now are praying for the rain to stop.

Death and destruction in the form of flood-breeding rains, hailstorms and tornadoes has poured from the sky over Texas, only recently a dust bowl, for 10 straight days.

The toll today stood at least 15 persons dead and untold millions of dollars in damages.

Three persons died Sunday and the body of another who drowned Saturday was recovered. Hundreds of families scrambled for high ground as flash floods engulfed their homes. The latest line of disaster ran from Graham, 100 miles west of Dallas, to the Gulf of Mexico 400 miles away.

More Rain Forecast

Rain was forecast for every part of the water-logged state today.

Virtually the only part of Texas in which the drought that gripped the state for seven years has not been violently snapped, at least for the time being, is in the Big Bend area west of the Pecos. The yearly average there is about seven inches.

Homero Vergara Galindo, 22, and his wife, of Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, were killed by a bolt of lightning as they watched the Rio Grande reach its highest peak in two years.

Bernice Lee Goodwin, a 21-year-old Dallas man, waded into overflow waters of the swollen Trinity River and was swept away Sunday.

Dallas County Emergency Corps recovered the body of David Jones 10, who was swept away below the White Rock Lake spillway Saturday night.

Tornadoes On Holiday

Tornadoes took a virtual holiday in Texas. Only one funnel was reported and it apparently did not touch ground.

Floods on the Trinity and Brazos alone have caused 19 million dollars damage. Late last night the Texas Department of Public Safety reported 68 highways and roads blocked by high waters and washed out bridges.

The American Red Cross said that until Sunday afternoon, at least 50 persons had been injured in addition to the toll of dead. It said at least 2,259 families were affected by the floods, 45 homes destroyed, 250 homes suffered major damage, 680 others damaged and 450 other types of buildings either destroyed or damaged.

'FLOORED' BY FLOODS — Already buffeted by twisters and torrential rains, northern Texas is still under siege from overflowing rivers and creeks. In the White Rock lake area, near Dallas, residents had to leave their homes as waters surged into the lower floors.

Postponement in Jakomas Trial Granted by Judge

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Common Pleas Court Judge Ann X. Alpern granted a postponement in the trial of ouster proceedings against McKeesport Mayor Andrew Jakomas today at the request of a federal judge.

Judge Alpern previously had refused to postpone the case, which was scheduled to open today. She reversed her decision after receiving a letter from U.S. District Judge John L. Miller stating that Jakomas' lawyer, James P. McArdle, was tied up in the trial of negligence cases in federal court.

Judge Miller said McArdle's presence in federal court would be necessary until the week of May 13 because he is counsel in a number of civil suits which should be heard in the present term. The federal judge said to postpone these cases would be unfair to the litigants.

Jakomas is defendant in a quo warranto proceeding filed by Clifford Flegal. The mayor is accused of voting in council to lift a tax lien against property of which he was the owner.

Asst. Dist. Atty. William Clancy Smith opposed postponement of the county case, but Judge Alpern told him she had been advised by her colleagues on the bench that federal court takes precedence over the county courts.

Judge Alpern said the ouster proceeding involved "public interest" and that she believed it should be tried before the May 21 primary election. She said she would urge Judge Wilson to arrange to have McArdle available as soon as possible.

other "summit" conference but that Saud first wanted to consult with Hussein before committing himself. All are bound together in military pacts, and Saudi Arabia, Syria and Egypt are pledged to protect Jordan from outside invasion.

Throughout the Jordan crisis the threat of military action by Israel hung over the Arab nations. An Israeli Foreign Office spokesman said Sunday Israel would still take action if the Arab states try to change Jordan's boundaries.

But Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban said on a television broadcast at the same time Jordan need have no fear of an attack from Israel—that Israel favors the "preservation of Jordan's "integrity and stability."

Cheery Word for American Taxpayer

WASHINGTON (UP)—The U.S. Chamber of Commerce had a cheery word for the American taxpayer today: He can now start working for himself.

Delegates to the Chamber's convention here were presented with printed "congratulations" when they arrived. The card said for the first 80 working days of 1957 the average man toiled to pay off federal, state or local taxes.

As of this date, it added, he is on his own.

Must Admit Negroes, Court Tells College

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Supreme Court ruled today that Negroes must be admitted to Girard College for orphans in Philadelphia.

In a short, unsigned opinion the court said "the board which operates Girard College is an agency of the state of Pennsylvania."

Therefore, the opinion said, refusal to admit two Negro youths to the college "was discrimination by the state."

The Pennsylvania Supreme Court ruled last November that the boys—William Asne Foust and Robert Felder—had no constitutional right to admission.

The high court reversed this decision today. It cited its famous school segregation decision of May 17, 1954.

The case was sent back to the state court "for further proceedings not inconsistent with this (1954) opinion."

Defendant in the lawsuit was the board of directors of city trusts of the City of Philadelphia, which manages the so-called "college"—actually a school for boys from 6 to 18.

Stephen Girard, merchant, banker and philanthropist, left money in 1831 to found the school. The will stipulated that "poor, male white orphan children" were to benefit. The state court said the terms were "crystal clear."

The appellants contended that race discrimination cannot be practiced at Girard because it is operated pursuant to state statutes and ordinances. Many measures have been enacted over the years to permit carrying out of the trust.

"There would seem to be no basis for carving out from the concept of state action those types of state activity which use what was initially private money," the appeal said. "Indeed, the decisions of this court and other courts indicate that the test is public control—not the source of the funds."

The appeal said that Girard's million dollar bequest had grown to 98 million dollars in 1955 "by the stewardship of the City of Philadelphia."

The board contended that this reasoning would invalidate many charities and trusts established on the basis of religious and racial distinctions.

Auto Dealers In Convention

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Pennsylvania Automotive Assn. opened its 37th annual meeting today with "business management" the keynote subject of the new car dealers' two day convention.

Charles S. Frantz, manager of Motor Twins, Inc., Wilkes-Barre, addressing the opening business session, declared that despite price and wage increases, automobile retailing still offers a young man a career with "an excellent future."

"We are on the threshold of an expanding car-buying population and an expanding economy," declared Frantz, state chairman of the Young Automotive Managers group.

NLRB Election At Butler Plant

WASHINGTON (UP) — The National Labor Relations Board said today an election will be held among employes of the Butler, Pa., administrative offices of Heckett Engineer Co. to determine if they wish to be represented by Local 33 of the AFL-CIO Office Employes Union.

In its order, the NLRB excluded from the bargaining unit six workers who were classified as confidential or supervisory employes. Four others, whom the company sought to have excluded, were ruled eligible for union representation.

'Euratom' Plan Rejected by West

MOSCOW (UP)—Four West European countries rejected today as unfounded the Soviet Union's protest against the formation of "Euratom" and a common market.

The ambassadors of France, West Germany, Belgium and Luxembourg delivered the notes to the Soviet Foreign Ministry in reply to a Russian statement dated March 16.

Most of the West European nations met in Rome earlier this year and signed treaties setting up "Euratom," to pool atomic research and development and a common market which eventually will do away with trade barriers and convert the European nations into a single market.

Change Switchboard For Brownsville

The Bell Telephone Co. today announced that sometime this June the manual switchboard at Brownsville will be replaced by a modern dial central office.

The firm said that all of the offices presently receiving long distance calls through Brownsville will be handled at the Charleroi office, except Smock, New Salem and Republic. The latter will be serviced through Uniontown.

Tells of Chinese Red Tortures and Murders

TOKYO (UP)—A tortured Chinese American—who witnessed the systematic murder of his wife and daughter, and saw his fortune dissolved by the Chinese Communists—returns home to San Francisco Tuesday.

He is Lee Tung Dai, who for years ran a one-man Chinese hand laundry in San Francisco.

Lee arrived in Tokyo tonight, almost 10 years to the day he left the United States with his wife and daughter to live out the last years of his retirement in China.

Lee said he bought a home in Canton with his savings in 1947, but in 1950—after the Communists took over — he was arrested by police.

"They wanted my money," he said. "They told me old men and old women had no place in the new China.

"I said no, I had worked 52 years in a laundry — working with my hands—to live my last days in peace.

"They tied my wife's hands with rope behind her back. They did the same to me, and marched us five miles to the police station. We were beaten all the way with clubs and jabbed with sharp sticks.

"When they laid my wife on a table, and beat her knees with a crow bar, I said I would pay."

But Lee said the first payment to the Communists was just the beginning. During the next five years he was arrested 19 times, and served prison terms ranging from a few days to 2 and one-half years.

Arab World Is Split; Struggle On for Power

By PETER WEBB

LONDON (UP) — The Arab-Israeli crisis has split the Arab world.

Egypt and Syria have lined up against Saudi Arabia and Iraq in a struggle that may decide whether kings or Communism will control the Middle East.

At the center of the stage is Jordan's 22-year-old King Hussein, fighting to keep his tiny kingdom from falling apart under the pressure of leftwing nationalists.

But behind the smokescreen of government crisis, riots, radio propaganda and army purges a deeper struggle for power is taking place between forces that want to dominate the Arab world.

It is a struggle that has been going on since the Ottoman Empire disintegrated after World War I, releasing the forces of Arab nationalism.

In recent years it has been obscured by the problem of Israel, which has given a false sense of Arab unity to the nations now involved in Jordan. All the Arab states were united against Israel. Now they still oppose Israel but they are squabbling with each other.

Lined up with Jordan's nationalists, who want to overthrow or at least curb King Hussein, are Egypt and Syria, both republics in the grip of xenophobic nationalism, both with leanings toward Russia

Cairo Issues Propaganda

Hour by hour Cairo Radio, the most powerful transmitter in the Middle East, pours anti-Hussein propaganda into Jordan, urging the untutored masses to rebel against the king.

There is more than a suspicion that the strings which sent mobs roaring into the streets of Amman, capital of Jordan, were pulled from Cairo.

Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser and his government have kept outwardly aloof from the Jordan crisis, but their propaganda organs have kept up an unrelenting stream of "advice" that leaves no doubt where Egyptian sympathies lie.

To the north of Jordan lies Syria, Egypt's closest ally and, like Egypt, a recipient of Soviet arms. Syrian president Shukri El-Kuwatly flew last week to Cairo for talks with Nasser.

A 3,000-man Syrian brigade entered Jordan during last fall's Suez crisis to guard against any attack from Israel. There have been conflicting reports that King Hussein has ordered the Syrian troops to get out of his country.

There also have been reports of Communist Czech - made submachine guns entering Jordan by truck from Syria for distribution to nationalist elements opposing King Hussein.

Against Egypt and Syria are aligned Iraq and Saudi Arabia, both monarchies which fear the spread of Communist-inspired nationalism in the Middle East.

Iraq Would Aid Jordan

They believe it threatens their thrones and suspect Egypt of supporting it to achieve control of the Arab sphere.

Iraq's King Feisal is Hussein's cousin. Both are members of the Hashemite dynasty which fought with Britain against the Turks in World War I. Iraqi troops are today reported on the Jordan border, ready to come to Hussein's aid if necessary.

The key man in Iraq is Premier Nuri Es-Said, a wily, 68-year-old politician who has constantly opposed Egypt's ambitions and was instrumental in founding the anti-Communist Baghdad Pact —the agreement which links Iran, Iraq, Turkey, Pakistan and Britain. The U.S. supports the pact.

Saudi Arabia, which is not a member of the Baghdad group, was for years the traditional enemy of both Jordan and Iraq in a dynastic feud dating back three decades when the late King Ibn Saud of Arabia drove Hussein's great-grandfather out of southern Arabia.

But common fear and interest have brought the old foes together. Saudi Arabian troops, also inside Jordan since the Suez crisis, have been placed under Hussein's command.

Both Saudi Arabia and Iraq lean toward the Eisenhower Doctrine as a means of stopping Communist infiltration of the Middle East. King Saud, a feudal and iron-fisted ruler, recently visited President Eisenhower in Washington.

Iran, Israel Look On

On the sidelines are Iran and Israel, the first little involved in the Jordan crisis, the second vitally so.

Although a member of the Baghdad Pact, Iran, ruled by the anti-Communist shah, has taken little part in the power maneuverings of the Arab world. It is far more concerned over the problem of Russia on its northern border.

Israel, however, is right in the middle—everybody's enemy and nobody's friend.

Its 1,300-mile border with Jordan poses a constant problem. If Jordan were to fall into the hands of either Egypt or Syria, there is little doubt that Israel would march into Jordan to seize the whole west bank of the Jordan River.

The river has long been regarded by Israel as its natural eastern frontier. Any change in the present status might set off Israeli action.

It is this fear of Israel—shared by both Egypt and Syria on the one hand and Iraq and Saudi Arabia on the other—which may keep Jordan from falling apart. While both the royal and the Republican groups dream of controlling the Arab world, neither wants to open any door for Israel.

HILLTOP FIREMEN HAVE ANNUAL BANQUET — Monessen Hilltop Fire Department held its eighth annual banquet at Blue Top Hotel last night. Taking part in the program were (l. to r.) Thomas F. Preston, toastmaster; John Kotch, Jr., director of public safety; Dr. Joseph Pallone, superintendent of schools who was the principal speaker; Robert Caldwell, president, Mayor Hugo J. Parente, who gave the welcome address, and Dr. Anthony Persico, vice-president.

Pallone Outlines His Objectives

"Every student has a creative spark and it is up to the educators to develop it," Dr. Joseph Pallone, superintendent of Monessen public schools, told a large crowd at the eighth annual banquet of the Hilltop Fire Department last night at Blue Top Hotel.

Dr. Pallone said that teaching cannot be mediocre if "we are to give our children perfection in education. Every school needs the right kind of teachers and administrators to put across a successful education program."

The superintendent said he has three immediate objectives in his job. One is to work out a sound financial structure for the Monessen School District. Another is to provide "an excellent teaching staff." The third, he declared, is have a "basic thinking program which will make men and women out of our students."

Dr. Pallone said that when these objectives are accomplished "no school will be better than ours."

He also declared that stern measures will be taken to get rid of "a lot of Elvis Presleys around the school. Students are in school for an education; not for a lot of foolishness. We intend to make our students outstanding men and women."

Dr. Pallone was principal speaker at the banquet presided over by Robert Caldwell, Hilltop president. Thomas F. Preston was toastmaster.

Mayor Hugo J. Parente delivered the welcome address, during which he told the gathering that plans are in progress for modernizing Monessen's "somewhat antiquated" fire system. He said a representative of the Pennsylvania Economy League will conduct a survey of the community's fire apparatus and system and make recommendations for improvements.

Edward Bartosik was banquet chairman and Anthony Orsilli, co-chairman. Committeemen were Harry Bartosik, Edward Francowic, William Menzler, Steve Murin, Alvin Roberts, John Shusta, John Siarnicki and Andrew Seykoski. Members of City Council John Kotch, Jr., David Victoria and John Molnar, were special guests. Caldwell introduced various officers of the organization.

State Motorists To Get Five-year License Plates

HARRISBURG (UP)—Pennsylvania motorists will receive five-year aluminum license plates for their vehicles next year.

The new system of semi-permanent tags, the first major change in the state's registration system in the 51-year history of the Bureau of Motor Vehicles, was announced over the weekend by Gov. George M. Leader.

After the initial aluminum tag is issued in 1958, motorists will receive small aluminum tabs which will be bolted to the license to validate for each year. One plate and four tabs will serve the car owner through five years.

The governor said the system would save the Commonwealth $1,363,000 in the next five years although the cost of replacing the steel plates the first year will be $281,337 higher than normal.

"We have conducted an extensive survey on the merits of this program," the governor said. "It has been discussed with motor vehicle administrators in states where the semi-permanent system is now working. I am convinced it is not only a sound move administratively but is also one that will appeal to every tax conscious Pennsylvania motorist."

Teamsters Council Standing by Beck

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Joint Council 40, Teamsters Union, is standing by Teamsters boss Dave Beck.

In a resolution, disclosed Sunday the council said that until the union president has had "his day in court...we affirm our trust, faith and loyalty in Dave Beck."

The council is composed of 29 teamster locals representing some 40,000 members in Western Pennsylvania, Maryland and West Virginia.

Doctors Plan Tests to Split Siamese Twins

YOUNGSTOWN (UP) — Doctors will take additional x-rays this week to determine whether to attempt to separate Siamese twin boys joined at the abdomen.

The boys were born to Mrs. William Freeman by Caesarean section Friday and weighed 14½ pounds.

Physicians indicated if the x-rays show digestive, urinary and endocrine systems are separate, the parents will be asked to decide if they want the boys separated.

Meanwhile, the twins were reported in good condition and "resting comfortably" in a king-size crib.

The Freemans said they have decided on names for the boys but declined to disclose them.

GM President Hits Heavy Michigan Taxes

DETROIT (UP)—The president of General Motors has dropped a boombshell in the center of Michigan politics with the warning that state taxes might keep GM expansion out of the state.

Spokesmen for Ford and Chrysler denied that their recent expansions to neighboring states were prompted by an unfavorable tax climate in Michigan. But both criticized the taxes.

Gov. G. Mennen Williams has recommended the Legislature pass a 6 per cent corporations profits tax. Top officials of General Motors Corp., Ford Motor Co., and Chrysler Corp. said the auto industry would have to take a hard look at future expansion in Michigan if the tax were to be imposed.

Williams called the statements by the auto industry leaders "politically motivated."

Harlow Curtice, General Motors president, said: "The present level of business taxation in Michigan has already led us to locate plants in other states where the taxes per General Motors job are less than one-half of the present taxes per job in Michigan."

Alan L. Gornick, tax counsel for Ford, said he would advise against expansion of Ford facilities in Michigan if the Legislature approved a corporation profits tax.

"We like it in Michigan, and we want to stay," Chrysler President Lester L. (Tex) Colbert said. "But we are seriously concerned with the possibility of an increase in corporate taxation in Michigan."

Gornick said the tax burden on business in Michigan is greater than in any of the neighboring states, Indiana, Ohio and Illinois, with the exception of Wisconsin.

Uniform for St. Leonard Girls

A type of uniform to be worn by girl students at St. Leonard Parochial School was chosen by the St. Leonard Parent Teacher Association yesterday.

The uniform will be a midnight blue jumper and beanie with the St. Leonard Emblem and a white shirtwaist blouse. While the uniform will be encouraged it will not be mandatory that students wear them.

The first measuring date has been set for May 8 and along with those now attending St. Leonard, any girl who will enter first grade next term may be fitted if she wishes. There will be another measuring date before the next fall term starts.

President Joseph Campus conducted yesterday's session which began with prayer by the Rev. Martin O'Toole.

A program was set up for the summer season in which the organization will assist in supplying new lighting for the school rooms and having the floors repaired.

The children's activities committee of the PTA will sponsor a skating party on May 4 from 10 a. m. to 12 30 p. m. A report was given on a recent Pittsburgh trip in which the students participated.

Women were asked to volunteer for cafeteria work at the school. The next meeting was set for June 9.

The attendance banner was won by parents of the fourth grade students.

Luncheon was served by Mrs. Imogene Panetti, Mrs. Stella Andercovich, Mrs. Pastorkovich and Mrs. Peshok.

Governor Leader's Idealism Crops Out

ONE of Governor Leader's most attractive qualities as a public official is his idealism. Sometimes it is expressed rather naively and other times it seems a little too doctrinaire in the New Deal pattern to be entirely genuine. Nevertheless, we suspect even his political opponents recognize that the Governor is a young man who very much would like to do the right thing in most circumstances.

Mr. Leader's idealism cropped out the other day in his speech at the dedication of the Commonwealth's new office building in Pittsburgh when he said he would like to fight for a new state constitution and a governmental setup for Pennsylvania as modern as the new building.

"We are operating a 1957 government," he said, "under an inflexible constitution written in 1874, under a personnel system that breathes the spirit of Boise Penrose, and under a budget and revenue structure which successive legislatures fear to bring into honest balance.

"I have resolved . . . that I am going to fight the politicians in any party who have declared a vested interest in these wrongs."

Brave words, aren't they? And braver still if Governor Leader means them literally.

And perhaps he does, too. His dismissal of his former Secretary of Labor and Industry, John R. Torquato, whose crude abuse of the patronage system was discovered more or less by accident, was a courageous and meaningful action.

* * *

BUT THERE are some other important politicians in his own party, as well as in the Republican party, who clearly have a "vested interest" in the obsolescence of Pennsylvania's government. One of them, of course, would be Dave Lawrence, the Mayor of Pittsburgh, who is given the major credit for making Mr. Leader the Governor. Mayor Lawrence is not quite the boss in the Democratic Party, perhaps, that Senator Penrose was in the Republican, but the difference between them is not really worth arguing about from the standpoint of principle.

So we will believe it when we see it that Mr. Leader intends to fight the politicians — all the politicians — whose stock-in-trade is the patronage system.

But in his analysis of the faults of our state government, the Governor is certainly correct. And whatever assault he makes upon them will have our support.

Some Good News

THE VALLEY was given some good news last week by officials of Corning Glass Works whose plant in Charleroi is that community's principal industry and an important factor in the Valley's economy.

The Corning plant has been laying off workers for several months and this inevitably produced speculation about the ultimate future of the plant, which is one of the firm's oldest.

But Corning President William C. Decker and Vice President and General Manager R. Lee Waterman told an employe gathering that the long-range future of the Charleroi operation looks brighter. They see new designs and colors of glassware for household use as creating new consumer interest in these products which make up the principal output of the Charleroi plant.

Needless to say, we hope Mr. Decker and Mr. Waterman are correct in this forecast. It means much to this whole neighborhood that they should be.

Corning Glass Works is one of the most progressive and ingenious firms in the glass industry. What skillful business management can do to contribute to the well-being of a community we feel the Corning management can be depended upon to do.

Spring's Beauty

SPRING undoubtedly does things for this industrial Valley we live in. In a week's time the fresh new season softens the harsh outlines of our rugged geography and blurs some of the scars which man has gouged into the landscape. On some spring days, the air even seems a little purer.

The advent of spring always makes us wonder why we do not make more use of nature's readiness to help us improve our environment. Valley communities have each done at least a little to make themselves appear more attractive. But they could all do more.

Maybe we need a new department of municipal government, a Department of Beautification, whose responsibility would be to banish ugliness. It can't be spring all year, of course, and we have some desirable attributes that do not lend themselves to beautification. But with some studied and persistent effort, we could make vast improvements.

Merry-Go-Round—

Courage of King Hussein Is Surprise

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Inside the Kings Palace. Biggest surprise of the struggle over Jordan has been the stamina of 22-year-old King Hussein. Just one year ago he was considered the weakest reed in the Hashemite line of Arab monarchs. He so emulated the woman-chasing techniques of King Farouk of Egypt that his young wife went to live with her family in Cairo. She has not returned . . . His mother, Queen Zaine, was reported to be the real power behind the throne. British intelligence reported she was largely responsible for pushing out British General Glubb, the man who trained the Arab Legion. The British also reported that she had been subsidized to the tune of $300,000 by King Saud and Col. Nasser in order to do it . . . King Hussein's current backbone is attributed partly to his British education, partly to support from his cousin, King Faisal of Iraq, partly support from King Saud, who has now begun to fear Russia more than the British . . . Hussein's father, King Abdullah, was so pro-West and so friendly to Israel that he was assassinated. He met twice with Israel's Foreign Minister Golda Meir, who crossed the border disguised as an Arab woman to try to arrange peace between the Jews and Arabs. Abdullah complained at their last meeting that he was a virtual prisoner, shortly thereafter was killed.

Mr. Pearson

Inside Jordan — The Old City of Jerusalem, scene of Arab intrigue, looks as peaceful on the surface as the poplar trees which line its ancient walls. But behind those walls pace Arab guards. Machine guns peer out from slits in the walls, sandbags shield little groups of Arab soldiers — all just a stone's throw from the Holy Sepulchre where He is buried who preached "peace on earth, good will to men." . . . The holy places of Jerusalem are all in the Old City under Arab rule, including most of the Christian churches. Fifteen miles to the south is Bethlehem where Christ was born — likewise in Jordan. Tourists and religious pilgrims used to stream back and forth between Old and New Jerusalem, through the Mandelbaum Gate. Now the gate is guarded night and day. Only diplomats or those with special visas can pass. . . . Amman, capital of Jordan, has become a thriving city of 200,000 — almost doubled as a result of the refugees fleeing from Israel. In the past decade, new autos have replaced donkeys and camels, given it a traffic problem. . . . As in most of the Near East, water is what Jordan needs most. It's a greater problem in Jordan than in Syria, Lebanon, or Israel. Jordan would be one of the chief beneficiaries of the Jordan Valley irrigation project proposed by special Ambassador Eric Johnston, but he was never able to persuade any of the Arab states to go ahead with his plan.

Inside Egypt — There is definite evidence that Col. Nasser gave the short shrift to the Jordanian revolt — after conferring with Soviet Ambassador Evgueni D. Kiselev in Cairo. . . . At first Nasser was caught off balance by King Hussein's tough tactics against Communism. But after conferring with the Russian Ambassador, Nasser got busy. Egyptian agents inside Jordan went into full force . . . It will be a long time before the USA lives down the 1953 error when John Foster Dulles delivered the pearl-handled revolver to President Naguib as a gift from President Eisenhower. Fusion of force, the Egyptians understood force. . . . Senators have been quietly probing the intricacies of our Near East policy, from the revolver to Dulles begging at the British in 1953-54 to get out of Suez. They have bowed, left without any agreement from Egypt . . . Another error: Dulles's constant urging of an Aswan Dam loan on Nasser at a time when he was building up tremendous quantities of Russian arms. Offering a loan while the Reds were dumping a billion dollars of arms in Egypt and other Arab lands — that we were too weak to protest.

Nasser Propaganda — The Cairo radio broadcasts in 32 dialects, 21 hours a day, all over the Near East and Africa. It is far more effective than the Voice of America, Radio Vatican, or the BBS. Egyptian agents to incite revolt [illegible] Col. Nasser, of the Cairo Radio [illegible] from receiving [illegible] brotherhood of Morocco and Algeria [illegible] on his daily broadcasts [illegible] you can be sure from France and [illegible] Egypt, Syria and Saudi Arabia which helped Jordan financially so she could be liberated, will not be idle, nor will any of the Arab lands be idle to assist Tunisia, Morocco, Algeria and any [illegible] to progress toward the goal of freedom.

1957 Economy Run

From Washington—

U. S. Action in Jordan Unlikely

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

The United States does not intend to intervene militarily in the Jordanian crisis.

That is the position of top American officials today.

They do not see war involving either the United States or the Soviet Union as in the making.

Mr. Drummond

The sudden movement of the U. S. Sixth Fleet is precautionary, is designed to be deterrent. It does not signal American intervention.

Informed opinion in Washington does not expect the Soviet Union to risk an action which would bring American force into play through the Eisenhower Middle East Doctrine.

To the extent that there is a serious danger of war, the view here is that it stems from possible action by interested Arab countries and it is still believed that this danger can be averted.

Situation Critical

Obviously the situation is critical, uncertain, potentially combustible — but our government believes it is soluble short of war.

The immediate events are gravely disturbing but underneath the surface the ingredients of a hot war do not appear at present.

Conceivably the situation could deteriorate badly so that totally new signals would be necessary, but this prospect is not now seen as probable.

From those with access to the fullest available facts I have sought answers to questions which must be in everyone's mind and the answers I get are these:

Question — How near is the U. S. to intervening militarily to defend Jordan?

Answer — Such an action is not a part of any plans now being weighed by President Eisenhower or Secretary of State Dulles.

Two positive events would have to take place before such a step would be seriously considered:

1 — There would have to be more overt Soviet participation in any of the present moves and maneuvers to undermine King Hussein's control of his country.

2 — The government of Jordan, now King Hussein himself, would formally have to ask the United States for armed protection under the Eisenhower Doctrine.

Washington officials do not believe that Moscow is ready to imperil world peace at any such maneuver and they also believe that King Hussein will likely have it in his capacity to quell disorder and retain his authority with assistance from his Arabian friends, especially Iraq and Saudi Arabia.

Question—Is King Hussein a reliable ally of the West?

Answer — That is a time above all times to judge by actions, not by words. He is, first an ally of Jordan and his fullest concern is the safety and independence of his country. He is a loyal Arab, committed to Arab solidarity.

We must recognize that King Hussein must contemplate very emotional anti-Western forces within his own land and to do so he must persuade all his potential followers that in rejecting any servience to the Soviet Union he is not inviting subservience to the United States.

King Hussein wishes to preserve Jordan's independence short of any American intervention of any kind and it is in our interest that he should do so. His most ardent Arab allies are close to the United States.

U. S. Aid Last Resort

He will seek American assistance only as a last resort and if events should compel it. In that resort then we would have to determine whether Jordan's independence is being threatened by "armed aggression from any country controlled by international communism."

Question — What is there the U. S. can do to help?

Answer — Make it clear to the world that the United States does not want any hand in ruling Jordan.

Make it clear to the Soviet Union that if the Kremlin tries to take a hand, if it intervenes or procures the intervention of a pro-Soviet country, it will be inviting war with the United States.

The statement by the President at Augusta yesterday that Jordan's independence was vital to American interest and the timing of the movement of the Sixth Fleet to the Eastern Mediterranean were designed to make clear both of these points.

There may come a time when the United States can usefully give economic assistance to Jordan. King Hussein's immediate need is to be sure he can meet the payroll of his loyal forces, and here King Saud of Saudi Arabia, it is felt, will continue to be responsive to any urgent appeal from King Hussein.

Quotes from The News

By UNITED PRESS

NEW YORK — Vice-Adm. Charles R. Brown, commander of the U. S. 6th Fleet in the Mediterranean, on why his naval force was ordered to the troubled Mideastern area:

"My job is to be prepared for war — any kind of war, but the primary mission is to help preserve the peace. The 6th Fleet is a visible symbol of power reassuring friends, dissuading enemies."

WASHINGTON—Robert F. Kennedy, counsel to the Senate Rackets Committee on the committee's probe of Teamsters' President Dave Beck's alleged misappropriation of $320,000 of union funds:

"I think without question we could prove that Mr. Beck stole the $320,000."

SOUTH BEND, Ind.—Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) on the proposed 73 billion dollar budget:

"It is a luxury budget on a global basis. It embraces practically every country in the world excepting Russia."

WASHINGTON—Sen. Irving M. Ives (R-N.Y.), vice chairman of the Senate Rackets Committee, on proposed legislation to protect union members from racketeers:

"In the end, though, the responsibility rests with the rank and file union man or woman."

WASHINGTON—James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, on House-approved cuts in the State Department appropriation for next year:

"The President and the secretary of state (John Foster Dulles) believe that the cuts made by the House are harmful to the United States and to the conduct of foreign affairs."

GOP's Gains Among Labor Voters Studied

By RAYMOND LAHR

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Republican Party is claiming across-the-board gains among labor voters but is not yet confident it can hang on to this increased labor support in the big cities.

This is one of the major conclusions reached in GOP headquarters from results of the 1956 elections which have been studied with an eye toward 1958 and 1960.

Mr. Lahr

Republican findings agree in part and disagree in part with conclusions of the labor movement's political agents, who worked mostly for Democratic candidates.

Absenteeism Hurt Adlai

Both groups agree that Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee, was hurt in labor precincts by stay-at-home voters who marked their ballots for him four years earlier. There is also agreement that the greatest labor vote gain for Republicans came from Negro voters.

There is disagreement, however, on a point which will be all-important in the congressional elections next year when the magic name of Eisenhower will not be on the ballot.

AFL-CIO political analysts found little relation between votes cast for president and balloting for members of Congress. They said the congressional vote stuck more closely to traditional party patterns.

The GOP concluded, in contrast, that its candidates generally made a stronger showing in labor wards than in the past and that this finding applied to congressional candidates as well as to Eisenhower.

Congressional Demos Favored

Democrats did, nevertheless, retain control of both houses of Congress in the face of the Eisenhower landslide. As of now they rate as favorites to hold on to their majorities in the 1958 elections.

Another Republican conclusion is that labor has offered inflated claims for its contribution to the improved Democratic showing west of the Mississippi River. The GOP did concede, however, that labor political influence is most effective in areas where a high percentage of the working population is organized in unions.

For this reason the Republican Party can be expected to concentrate on strengthening its own labor arm in such areas.

The Lighter Side—

Rome Has the World's Worst Traffic Snarl

By DOC QUIGG

ROME (UP)—To traffic commissioners, chiefs of police, and mayors everywhere: Relax, boys. You think you've got traffic problems? Come on over here and be happy.

This town has the world's champion floating traffic snarl. It's a free-for-all, in its own way. Everybody joins in — bicycles, motor scooters, little autos, big autos, middle-sized autos, baby carriages, buses, and pedestrians—matter of fact, mostly pedestrians.

Traffic moves on a sort of muddle-through policy, accompanied by plenty of arguments. The method of driving can only be described as furious. Two cars will careen toward each other at an intersection and slide to a halt with front fenders half an inch apart. Then the drivers emerge and wave their arms at each other while traffic waits.

Cars Are Small

Most of the cars are of the small, European type. If they had huge and ever-growing monsters here like those in the United States, the streets might get jammed beyond all hope of clearance.

As for the pedestrians, the approved method of crossing the street is to saunter out in the middle of the block, hands in pockets, gazing at the skies or talking animatedly with a companion. In some blocks, during peak pedestrian hours, there seem to be more walkers in the street than on the sidewalks.

This is a great hazard, too, because one of the main sports of the autoists is making pedestrians jump.

As expounded by a citizen who has watched the situation for some years, the three guiding rules for driving in Rome are:

—In a very vague way, the car coming from the right has the right-of-way.

—The pedestrian is absolutely responsible for himself at all times and travels at his own risk.

—When getting ready to make a right turn, get as far over to the left as possible so that when you turn you can snarl up traffic for half a block all around.

Independent Souls

The drivers are independent souls. The hired car in which I was being hurtled along the other evening got a little too fast, and we asked the driver to slow down. He turned around and, without easing the speed a bit, explained: "I like to drive fast."

About three months ago, in New York, I wrote a piece making light of Prof. Alberto De Rossi, a Rome traffic expert, who after a study of U. S. cities said that the only thing that could solve Rome's traffic problem was the discipline of American pedestrians and drivers.

I said that no one could be as undisciplined on the street as a New Yorker. I was wrong. I apologize. New York, meet Rome.

The Views of Others—

'Home Rule' for Cities

(From the Lancaster Intelligencer-Journal)

Over a year ago, the "Intelligencer Journal" editorially urged those interested in "home rule" for cities of the third class to ask their legislators to report out of a Senate committee a measure designed to provide such freedom. The bill at that time was reposing in the Senate committee to which it had been referred after passing the House.

Amidst the controversy over a tax bill the proposal never was reported out of committee and thus once more was lost enabling legislation for a constitutional amendment approved by the voters of the commonwealth in 1922.

We write again urging support on the local level for a somewhat similar measure. This is Senate Bill 229, introduced by Senators Stevenson, Republican, of Clinton County, Kopriver, Republican, Allegheny County, Van Sant, Republican, Center County and Lane, Democrat, Washington County.

The measure would set up the machinery by which the citizens of a third class city of which Lancaster is one, could decree a change in their form of government, should they so desire. The measure would allow a change, after public vote, for instance, to a city manager form of government, or to a "strong mayor" type of rule where the mayor carries out all the ordinances and decisions of council.

The measure has the formal support of the League of Third Class Cities and the word from Harrisburg is that if some sign of support is seen, the measure has a real chance of clearing the Senate next week.

The advantages of this particular type of legislation are readily apparent in that it affords third class cities considerable option in determining its type of government.

Those who favor more "home rule" for city government, as does this newspaper, should press their state senators for favorable action.

Fascinating Book Is Written by French Author

"The Fall" (Knopf) Albert Kohqy Camus' first novel since "The Plague" is, in the words of his publisher "at once elegant, mordant, brilliant with aphorism and paradox." It is also an immaculately professional piece of work a first-person narrative of events in its hero's life which never fails to hold the reader's attention.

Jean-Baptiste Clamence, the narrator, tells of his life as a successful lawyer in Paris, leader of noble causes, defender of widows — and egocentric without parallel. His inevitable fall comes with the realization that he is not quite the god for which he had taken himself. He learns that no man is innocent, that none can judge and none may cast the first stone.

Camus' logic is impeccable, his premises are all acceptable, but he has carried his argument that one step too far that sometimes leads from paradox to contradiction. However, his book's fascination is undiminished. . .

Miss Ruth Cadman Weds D. Armstrong

Solemnized on Saturday evening, April 27, in the First Presbyterian Church of Belle Vernon, was the marriage of Ruth Cadman, of Belle Vernon and Donald Armstrong.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Cadman and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Armstrong, of Railroad St., Monongahela.

The double ring vows were exchanged before the Rev. Abner P. Richard, Jr., pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Monessen. Tall white tapers and ferns decorated the church altar. The aisle of the church was lined with white crash and the kneeling cushion was covered with white satin. White satin bows marked the family pews.

Mrs. John Bunardzya played a prelude of nuptial organ selections. Jack Hoyes was soloist and before the ceremony sang "Mine" and "Because. Immediately after the vows he sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Given by Father

The bride entered the church with her father, who gave her in marriage. She was attired in a formal white gown of silk chiffon styled with a fitted bodice with a shirred sabrina neckline, short sleeves with fly away panels from the shoulder line The full skirt ended in a swirl chapel train. Her fingertip veil was held by a matching headpiece with a teardrop pearl on the forehead. She carried her Rainbow Girl Bible covered with white and topped with an orchid with knotted satin shower streamers.

Mrs. William Garber, an aunt of the bride, was the matron of honor. She wore a gown of pink and coral silk chiffon styled with a sabrina neckline and fly-away panels. Her headpiece was a matching band and brief veil accented with seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of carnations tinted to match her gown.

Wedding Party

Bridesmaids were Norma Jobes and Mrs. Jack Hill, of Pittsburgh, the former Joann Free, of Belle Vernon. They wore gowns styled identical to that of the matron of honor only in two shades of blue, a poudre blue and a darker blue. They wore similarly styled headbands and carried cascade bouquets of carnations tinted to match their gowns. All three attendants wore small pearl earrings as their only jewelry.

Best man was Walter Armstrong, Jr., brother of the bridegroom, who was home on leave from the U. S. Navy. Serving as ushers were Paul Anders of Finleyville and Jack Hill, of Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Cadman wore a blue ensemble for her daughter's wedding and her flowers were pink carnations and the mother of the bridegroom wore a navy print with a pink carnation corsage. Mrs. John Cadman, grandmother of the bride wore a pink silk crepe and lace ensemble with a white carnation corsage.

Reception Held

A reception at the Fairhope Rod and Gun Club followed the ceremony. A four tiered wedding cake centered the bridal table. The tall white tapers in sterling silver holders were entwined with iris and daffodils and similar floral arrangements decorated the other tables.

Later in the evening the couple left for a motor trip to Miami, Fla. and a plane trip to Havanna, Cuba. For traveling the bride wore a blue-gray suit with a silver mink collar and matching accessories. Her corsage was an orchid.

When the couple return they will live in their own apartment on Fallowfield Ave., Charleroi.

The bride was graduated from Bellmar High School and was employed by Fisher Scientific Co., Pittsburgh. The bridegroom is employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad. He was graduated from Monongahela Hospital and served in the armed forces.

On Friday evening after a wedding rehearsal there was a party for the attendants of the couple at the Park Casino. The bride and groom presented each other and their attendants with the gifts.

Out of town guests attended the wedding from West Newton, Charleroi, Monessen, Washington, D. C., Monongahela, Finleyville, Ohio, Pittsburgh and Smithton.

The bride-elect was graduated from Bellmar High School with the class of 1956 and is attending California State Teachers College. Her fiance is employed by the Pittsburgh Steel Co. at the Allenport plant.

No definite wedding plans have been made known.

Local Artist Winner of Second Popular Choice Award in Art Exhibit

Mrs. Dorothea Compton, of Donora and Mrs. W. B. Waite, of Monessen, entered the popular choice paintings in this year's exhibit held by the Monongahela Valley Art Club Thursday, Friday and Saturday at the First Methodist Church of Donora.

Last Thursday the winners as chosen by the judges were revealed and then blanks were supplied to every visitor to the show, who was then permitted to vote for the painting he regarded the most outstanding.

Mrs. Compton's coke oven scene titled "Beehives at Smithfield" was given the first "people's choice" award and the second went to Mrs. Waite for her painting "Turkey Hollow". Mrs. Waite's painting was also one of the judged prize winners, being chosen for the best landscape award.

Both of the painters honored had several pictures in the exhibit, which was visited by many valley patrons of art.

Number of Paintings

There were 84 paintings on exhibit and Mrs. Compton submitted four of her works, "Early America", "Seascape", "Maurice River No. 1" and the winner.

Mrs. Waite's paintings included "Senor Juan", "Judy", "Turkey Hollow" and "The New and the Old on the Monongahela". All excepting 'Senor Juan" were prize winners.

Mrs. Compton has served the club as president this past year and a large committee worked on the annual show. Mrs. Waite has been a member of the club since its inception and was instrumental in changing the Monessen Art Club to the present Valley Art Club.

Troop 19 Girl Scouts to Meet Next Monday

There will be no meeting of Girl Scout Troop 19 this evening due to examinations at school. The swimming party held for the girls on Friday was successful with Joseph Gladys as instructor and Mrs Jane King as the chaperone.

After the party there was a pizza party at Greco's.

All cookie money must be turned in at the next meeting. The girls are also to report on camping plans so that the summer program can be arranged.

The next meeting will be May 6, at 7 o'clock instead of the usual 7:30 hour, at the Civic Center.

Are Schoolboy Athletes Pampered!

Are high school athletes being pampered too much these days. Maybe so. Take the case of the Monessen High baseball team, for example. If a boy doesn't get to play regularly, he quits. The same situation exists throughout the valley. There was a time when a lad considered it an honor just to win a uniform. He was ready and willing to perform any chore asked of him by the coach. But not anymore . . . "The fault may be ours," suggests an MHS sports official. "We may be showering the boys with too many privileges, particularly in Junior High. They've come to expect too many things. And nobody has the courage to be a second-stringer any more. Instead of trying to make the first team, the boys simply quit. In a way it's a sad commentary on varsity sports nowadays."

Press Maravich, who jumped from Aliquippa High to Clemson College last season as basketball coach, had a poor 7-16 record in his first college try. However Press figures things will be different next season when a flock of WPIAL products advance to the varsity squad. The list includes a trio of ex McKeesporters — George Krajeck, Wally Gibbons and Glen Shample . . . John Egli,, Penn State's basketball coach, will leave May 15 for Puerto Rico where he'll coach the Mayaguez quint in the Puerto Rican Summer League. The league season runs from June 1 until mid-August.

Hayduk, Cornell Were College Chums

John Hayduk, Monessen High's easy-going baseball coach, was a school chum of California's diamond boss Don Cornell at CSTC back in the thirties . . . Speaking of baseball, the maneuvering is underway to schedule games so that a certain pitcher will be available. According to WPIAL rules, games must be rescheduled in the order of their postponement. That further delays things since teams willing to play often are unable to do so without violating the rule . . . Henry Opperman, the well-known Connellsville business man who spent years persuading athletes to attend Notre Dame, will enroll his son Henry Jr. at Penn State. Young Henry is a 6-2 end who weighs in at 195. He's currently prepping as Massanutten.

During the annual awards assembly at Bellmar High School the other day, football-baseball coach Bap Manzini was presented a "crying towel" on which was inscribed some of Bap's more lugubrious comments . . . Bobby Bubash, the lad who pitched Har-Brack to the WPIAL baseball title last season, has already won four straight games this year . . . Munhall, an entry in the McKeesport Daily News League, has scheduled several night games this season at the community's swank baseball diamond . . . The Major Leagues consume no less than 100,000 baseballs a season.

Jaycees Select Forbes Field

The Pittsburgh Jaycees have decided to stage their annual all-star football game at Forbes Field on Tuesday, August 13 . . . Willie Vasiloff, former Brownsville High athlete and currently a standout guard at the University of Miami, has given an engagement ring to Mary Deven, a former Brownie cheerleader . . . The Monessen Ozarks have no complaints over the hospitality they were tendered during their visit to Jacobs Creek for an exhibition baseball game last week. Following the tussle, they were invited to tour Stoney's Brewery where each player was offered a sample. The invitation was extended through pitcher Bill Mitnick, who operates a beverage truck in town.

Fraley Picks Sugar Ray To Regain Crown

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP)—It all probably simmers down to whether you need a toupee, but Fearless Fraley has to stick out a scrawny neck today and pick Sugar Ray Robinson to regain the middleweight title from Gene Fullmer at Chicago on Wednesday night.

This figures immediately to send the chalk players into raptures. For with this type of a kiss of death, the price should get even longer than the 16 to 5 they currently are quoting on the sock market in favor of the Mormon mauler.

All I can say is that memories are made of this, or vice versa.

Much In Favor

Everything points to a repeat victory for the 26-year-old crowd-er from Utah. Fullmer has 11 years in his favor, is bull strong, hard to hit, harder to hurt and has had two bouts since beating Sugar Ray in January while Robinson has been idle.

But it's going to take one more win over the dancing dynamite from Harlem before I'll admit he's anything more than a very good club fighter.

The difficulty is that I can't convince myself that Sugar Ray has gone back that far and — if I was the cynical type—without insinuating that all was not kosher I'd say that the price is right. By this I mean that at 3 to 1 or better, Ray Robinson figures to fight even better than his 37 years permit.

From the way they've been talking, Fullmer should be put in jail for assaulting an old man. It seems doubtful, from the advance reports, whether pore old Sugar Ray's legs will be strong enough to carry him up the steps to the ring.

Bypassed Other Fighters

Go back a ways and maybe you'll recall that Fullmer was a notorious "bleeder" in his early bouts. Recall, too, that when Robinson had to risk the title he handpicked Fullmer to bypass several other gents who had title aspirations.

Sugar Ray can't afford to lose. His finances are a mess and the big bit for him is the ring where victory can give him several more profitable shots.

If Fullmer beats Ray Wednesday night, we both wind up as bums. And I'd sure hate to have company, Sugar.

Mantle Tossed Out of Game

NEW YORK (UP) — Mickey Mantle of the Yankees was tossed out of a major league game for the second time Sunday when he disputed a third strike in the third inning against the Red Sox. Ed Runge was the umpire who chased Mantle both times.

MONESSEN TURNERS RETAIN TITLE

HS Netters Home to Charleroi

Coach Antoinette Valentine's Monessen High tennis team will make its home debut today against Charleroi at the City Park courts in a Section 4 match.

The Monessen netters got off to a good start at Monongahela last week, scoring a clean sweep.

Miss Valentine called on four boys for the opening success: Joe Kurey, Ron D'Angelo, Dennis D'Alessio and George Selelyo.

All are seniors except Kurey, a junior who ranks as the team's top performer.

Kurey, D'Angelo and D'Alessio are expected to take part in today's singles. In doubles, Kurey will probably team with Selelyo while D'Angelo and D'Alessio will stick together.

Rough Start

Charleroi got off to a rough start last week, losing all five matches to California. Based on that showing, Monessen is expected to finally win a sports match from the Cougars this season.

The Greyhounds will face their big tennis test on Thursday when the play host to California.

One other Section 4 match today will send Monongahela to California.

Monessen High Nine Plays Bellmar Today

Monessen High's baseballers — who are learning the hard way — will appear against Bellmar today in a Section 17 game at Fayette City.

The youthful Hounds, who have only three seniors on the entire squad, have dropped four straight games after surprising Monongahela in the opener.

One of the setbacks was an 11-4 decision at home to Bellmar earlier in the campaign.

That would seem to indicate another rough time this afternoon.

However MHS Coach John Hayduk refused to be too discouraged.

"We knew this would be a long season," pointed out Hayduk. "We are trying to build for the future."

Along that line, the MHS boss has been giving every boy on the squad a chance to show his stuff.

Need Luck

Bellmar, tutored by the veteran Bap Manzini, has won two of five games this season. However the Canes are better than that record indicates. With a little luck, they could have won in two of their three losing contests.

Other Section 17 games today will send California to Charleroi and Donora to Monongahela.

On Thursday Monessen will appear at Monongahela, Charleroi at Donora and Bellmar at California.

Section 17 standings follow:

Burdock Yields Her Duckpin Bowling Title

Monessen's Pauline Burdock was unseated yesterday as the women's division champion of the Greater Pittsburgh Singles Duckpin Tournament sponsored by the Pittsburgh Sun Telegraph.

Pauline gave way to Mildred Donaldson, of New Castle.

However Burdock and a fellow Monessen contender, Mary Palm, went down fighting.

Both women rolled their way into the second round of the tourney, which brought together the top 12 qualifiers. Burdock had a first round 481, while Palm rolled a 434.

In the second round, Burdock slipped to 494 while Mary Palm checked in with a 504.

Palm's score was just nine pins shy of a challenging spot in the title round.

As it turned out, Donaldson defeated Margaret Pistorius, of Carrick, 474 to 457 in the championship match.

The tourney was the 23rd annual promoted by the Pittsburgh newspaper. It was staged at the Auditorium Bowling Alleys in Pittsburgh.

MVL Will Meet Here Tonight

Final plan for the upcoming Mon Valley Baseball League season will be mapped tonight during a meeting in the Monessen Sport Shop.

It appears now as though the league will be trimmed to six teams: Monessen Ozarks, Donora, Charleroi, Fayette City, Van Voorhis and New Eagle.

At an informal meeting last week, it was tentatively agreed to open the season next Sunday. The opening day clash will send Fayette City to Van Voorhis.

Next Monday, Donora will show at Monessen while Charleroi will travel to New Eagle — maybe.

The New Eagle situation remains confused since the team is presently without a diamond.

Stay in League

Manager Frank Furiga has made it plain that he intends to keep his New Eagle club in the league even if it will be necessary to play all games away from home.

Commissioner George Kuvinka has indicated that the 1957 season will be limited to 40 games per team. That will mean four at home and four on the road against every foe.

That schedule should give the league plenty of time for its annual playoffs.

Tonight's meeting will begin at 9 p. m.

Penn, Drake Relays Record Similar Results

By UNITED PRESS

On a comparison basis, the Penn and Drake Relays wound up in a virtual stand-off.

The Drake winners posted the best clockings in five of the eight major relay races, but the Penn winners wound up with a 6-4 edge in the major individual events.

Bobby Morrow, the Olympic spring champion, starred in the two-day Drake carnival at Des Moines, Iowa. He matched Dave Sime's meet record of 9.4 seconds in the 100-yard dash and then anchored Abilene Christian to meet records in the 440-yard and 880-yard relay events.

Greg Bell of Indiana University was named the outstanding athlete at the Penn Relays after retaining his broad jump title and winning an invitation 100 - yard dash race. However, Olympic champions Charlie Jenkins and Ron Delaney also sparkled in leading Villanova to a relay "triple."

Powered by Jenkins and Delaney, the Wildcats ran off with the mile, sprint medley and distance medley relay championships. Texas won the 440 and 880 at Philadelphia, equalling two meet records, and Manhattan quartets took the two mile and four mile events.

No world records were equalled or broken during either week-end carnival. However, the Drake show produced 11 meet records while six major marks were set at Philadelphia. In addition, Missouri's 480 - yard shuttle hurdles quartet set a new intercollegiate record of 58.4 seconds at Des Moines.

City Volleyballers First in National Event at St. Louis

Coach Bud Giannini's Monessen volleyballers successfully defended their national Turners title over the weekend in St. Louis, Mo.

Eight crack Turner teams competed in the event: Monessen, Detroit, St. Louis, Chicago, South Side St. Louis, Concordia (Mo.), Madison (Wis.) and Rochester (Pa.).

The tourney was staged as a round-robin. Monessen won every match.

As a matter of fact, Giannini's boys dropped only one game. That was to Rochester.

The four top teams qualified for the semi-finals and finals. In the semi-final round, Monessen whacked Concordia, 15-7 and 15-5.

Then the locals handled Detroit, 15-12 and 15-3 in the title bout.

All Tourney Picks

Three Monessen players were named to the all-tournament team: Bob Parsons, Bruno Krusl and Nick Sowko.

Other members of the Monessen squad were Bill DiMascio, Lou Kunka, Lefty Vlascia and Giannini.

Annually, the Turners tournament is regarded as the "big prize" by the Monessen spikers. They want that title more than any other.

The Turners aren't through with the 1957-58 season yet. They'll appear next in the Western Pennsylvania AAU meet.

Odds Drop as Sugar Ray Looks Good in Warmup

CHICAGO (UP) — Sugar Ray Robinson's sharp hitting hammered down the odds today as he finished boxing preparations for Wednesday night's return title fight with middleweight champion Gene Fullmer.

Young Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, is favored at only 2-1 to keep his 160 - pound crown by beating 36-year-old Robinson in their 15-rounder at the Chicago Stadium. That's a remarkable drop of six "points" from the 16-5 that prevailed over the week end.

"And the price will go lower," predicted one Chicago bookie. "Sugar Ray has been very impressive in training, but Fullmer has been only so-so. The price will go down to 7-5. There's plenty of Robinson money showing now."

As the odds dropped, enthusiasm for the fight mounted rapidly. Promoter Jim Norris, now on the scene, said, "The ticket sale is going so well I believe we'll have a crowd of at least 14,000 and a gate of at least $200,000."

TV Receipts

In addition, the TV -radio receipts will be $100,000. The bout will be televised and broadcast nationally, with a TV blackout on a 150-mile radius from the Stadium.

Although Robinson lost the title to Fullmer on a unanimous decision in their first fight at Madison Square Garden, Jan. 2, he is so confident of victory this time he has bet $2,000 on himself.

Robinson was slated for two final rounds of leather - tossing at Coulon's Gym today. Meanwhile, Fullmer—who had finished boxing Saturday—contented himself with roadwork and limbering exercises. Neither champion nor challenger expected any difficulty in paring down to the 160-pound limit for Wednesday's weigh-in.

Ex Yale Grid Standout Dies

HARRISBURG (UP)—William O. Hickok IV, 52, former All-American football player and one of Yale University's all - time greats on the gridiron, died at his home in nearby Fishing Creek Valley Sunday following a heart attack.

Hickok played three years with Yale teams from 1924 through 1926 and was the hero of Yale's 12-7 win over Harvard in his final year of play.

He was a major owner of the W. O. Hickok Manufacturing Co. of Harrisburg and for many years was associated with the Boy's Club of America. He held membership in a number of scientific societies and was a registered geologist.

In addition he was a national figure skating judge and a member of the American Forestry Association.

Hickok was the son of W. Orville Hickok 3rd, All-American guard at Yale in 1894 and 1895.

Six Countries In Davis Cup

By UNITED PRESS

Six countries qualified for the second round of the European Zone Davis Cup play during the week end, rounding out the 16-nation field for the next stage of the annual tennis competition.

The second round pairings: Italy-The Netherlands: Mexico-Germany; Hungary - Belgium; New Zealand - Britain; Czechoslovakia-France; South Africa - Denmark; Austria - Sweden; Luxembourg-Chile. These series must be completed by June 11. All cup series are best-of-five matches.

Six of the countries were scheduled to wind up first round series Monday but the winners already have been decided and the final matches reduced to exhibitions.

Italy, the defending zone champion, drew a first round bye along with Germany, Belgium, Britain, France, Denmark, Sweden and Chile. Earlier, New Zealand defeated Lebanon in the first round and Hungary walked into the second round when Ireland withdrew.

Bell Outstanding In Penn Relays

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — Greg Bell of the University of Indiana was voted the outstanding athlete in the Penn Relays by 17 sports writers and radio sportscasters who covered the week - end competition.

Italian Hall To Begin Practice

All candidates for the new Italian Hall softball teams are to report to practice on Wednesday at 6 p. m. in City Park, according to manager Steve Hardoby.

Anyone interested in trying out is cordially invited to attend the initial session.

Cleaners Win In 'Grudge' Match

Al Chevine's Cleaners took Bill Hughes Spoilers on Saurday in their annual Page Stainless bowling "grudge" match.

The Cleaners toppled 4992 pins compared to 4902 by the losers. As a result, the victors were treated to a steak supper at the Charleroi Elks Club.

Turners Win Bowling Crown

Turners earned the Center's League bowling title on Saturday by winning three straight games from Italian Hall.

The Turners won the first game, 945 to 861. The second game ended in a tie with both teams scoring 909. However in the extra frame, the Turners spilled 11 more pins.

That was the crushing blow for Italian Hall. The Turners romped in the third game, 880 to 754.

Pacing he champs were Joe Jannottta, 250-632 and Frank Warzinski, 213-600.

Tops for the losers were Ed Kroskie, 202-540 and Bernie Diethorne, 221-536.

The league voted to postpone the annual banquet from May 4 to May 25 at the Italian Hall. All team captains are to inform their players of the change.

Pirates GM Thinks Outlawed 'Spitball' Should be Legalized

By NORM BRAUN

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Pirate General Manager Joe L. Brown said today the outlawed spitball should be legalized to make "honest men of the cheaters now throwing it."

"Some of the older fellows on our club say there are people in both leagues using spitballs," he said. "Why make cheaters out of them when we can make the pitch legal and give everyone the opportunity to throw it?"

Brown told the United Press he has heard "no real or logical reason to keep a fellow from throwing a spitball as well as other pitches."

"By not legalizing it, we're penalizing the pitchers who stick to the rules and giving an advantage to the ones who are throwing it," he said.

Easy To Learn

The youthful general manager said the spitball is easy to learn. "A couple players on our club can throw it—and they're not even pitchers. A spitball would give pitchers a 'fourth' delivery to go along with the fast ball, curve and change of pace. And it would cut down on the number of runs."

Brown said the major leagues would not become "top heavy" with spitballers if the pitch were brought back.

"There weren't too many successful spitballers when the pitch was legal," he said. "The knuckleball, which probably is just as effective as the spitball, is legal—but not everyone throws it. The spitball is merely a non-rotating breaking pitch somewhat similar to the knuckler.

Ball Intact

"A lot of people argue that if the spitball is reinstated, the licorice, emery ball and those other doctored pitches will be brought back. That's not true. A pitcher doesn't change the face of the ball when throwing the spitter. The only way you can throw some of those other pitches is by cutting up the ball with cleats or bottle caps. That will never come to pass."

Brown said the Pirates do not plan to take motion pictures of Milwaukee pitcher Lew Burdette when the Braves open a three-game series here Thursday. Cincinnati Manager Birdie Tebbetts called Burdette a "cheating spitballer" last week to touch off a running controversy.

"We have made no complaint to Giles (Warren Giles, National League president)," Brown said. "Whether a pitcher throws a spitball is up to the judgment of the umpires. We'll leave it up to them.

"As for me, I'm in favor of the spitball."

DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF

Out of Sand Trap

Once you have mastered the basic explosion shot that gets you safely out of the trap, you may then begin to work on the problem of getting the ball close to the pin from out of the sand.

The combination of factors includes the power of the swing, the distance behind the ball that the clubhead enters the sand, and the texture of the sand. Sand that is loose, powdery, and deep calls for greater power and-or contacting the sand at a point closer to the ball. Conversely, wet, closely packed, and shallow sand calls for less power.

With a knowledge of the factors involved and mastery of the basic explosion shot (clubhead enters sand about two inches behind the ball and takes out a sand divot on which the ball rides out of the trap), the next thing needed is practice.

Casper Hangs on To Win Money In Derby Golf

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UP)—Steady Bill Casper Jr. wasn't able to shake a lingering cold during the $30,000 Kentucky Derby Open golf tournament, but he can buy a lot of cold pills today with his $4,300 first prize money.

The Bonita, Calif., pro moved up from 11th to third place on the PGA money list by finishing with a 72-hole total of 277, one stroke better than Peter Thomson.

It was Casper's oil-smooth putting that gave him a five stroke lead on the front nine Sunday. But he ran into trouble while playing the leg-tiring back nine in a downpour and bogeyed three holes, including the last two. He almost blew it by taking a three-over 39 on the back-side, while Thomson finished in 34.

Thomson picked up $3,600 for his four days work.

Julius Boros, former U.S. Open champion from Mid Pines, N.C., carded a final round of 65 and finished in third-place at 280.

A 67 by Bob Harris of Winnetka, Ill., gave him a total of 281 and tied him in fourth place with Bo Wininger, Odessa, Tex., who had a final round 68.

Art Wall Jr. of Pocono Manor, Pa., was next with a 282; Jack Fleck, of Rochester, Mich., had a 283; and Al Besselink, Grossinger, N. Y., and Marty Furgol, Lemont, Ill., were tied at 284.

Milwaukee Pitching Enables Fast Start

By FRED DOWN

The Milwaukee Braves have silenced their most severe critics today with one of the fastest starts in National League history featured by five one-run victories and a glittering 2.70 staff earned run average.

And, in the process, they are threatening to turn the N.L. race into a two-team fight with the Brooklyn Dodgers instead of the three and possibly four - team struggle predicted by the experts. The Dodgers, with a 7-3 record, are the only other team in the league over .500 after two weeks of play.

The Braves dealt the Cincinnati Redlegs a staggering blow over the week end when they made it six straight victories for the season over them. Sunday's 3-2 triumph, in which 35-year-old Red Murff picked up the first win of his big league career, dropped the Ted Kluszewski-less Redlegs three games under .500 and 5½ games behind the front-running Braves.

Yielded One Run

Murff, taking over from Taylor Phillips, yielded one run and three hits in the last 5 1-3 innings.

The Dodgers suffered their third loss in 10 games when Bob Friend fired a seven-hitter to give the Pittsburgh Pirates a 3-0 decision. Hank Foiles singled home Pittsburgh's first run in the fifth and the Pirates added single tallies in the seventh and eighth.

St. Louis pitching limited the Chicago Cubs to a total of five hits in the doubleheader as the Cardinals scored 6-2 and 4-0 victories while the Philadelphia Phillies walloped the New York Giants 11-2, in other N.L. games. The Giants led in the nightcap, 8-7, when it was suspended in the seventh with Philadelphia's potential tying run on base. It will be completed Aug. 16.

One-Game Lead

The Chicago White Sox opened up a one-game lead in the American League when they beat the Kansas City Athletics, 5-3. Chicago has won seven of nine games.

Yogi Berra's 10th-inning homer lifted the New York Yankees to a 3-2 victory and snapped the Boston Red Sox' five-game winning streak. A crowd of 36,971 saw Don Larsen pick up his first win of the year after the Red Sox tied the score against Bob Grim with two runs in the ninth.

Jim Busby scored on catcher Frank House's error to give the Cleveland Indians a 10-inning, 3-2 verdict after the Detroit Tigers won their opener, 2-0.

Jerry Snyder singled home Whitey Herzog in the 10th to give the Washington Senators a 7-6 victory but the Baltimore Orioles won the nightcap, 3-2, as relief pitcher Billy O'Dell turned in 2-3 hitless innings.

Page Wins for Miami, 7 to 1

By UNITED PRESS

The youthful left arms of a pair of rookies and the ageless right arm of Satchel Paige today stacked the Richmond Virginians and the Miami Marlins one-two in the International League standings.

Paige, who Havana manager Nap Reyes suspects "was pitching in the gaslight days," made his first start of the year Sunday and scattered six hits to give the Marlins a 7-1 triumph over Buffalo after the Bisons tripped them, 2-1, in the first game of their twin bill.

Richmond, powered by the double debut victories of Ed Maier and Jim Kite, two southpaws who spent last year with Denver, defeated Montreal, 2-1, 6-1, to seize undisputed possession of first place.

For the defending pennant winners, Toronto, and the defending playoff champion, Rochester, Sunday was a day they'd rather forget. Havana tripped the Red Wings, 2-0, 3-0, while Columbus chewed up Toronto, 6-3, 4-2.

La Bua Takes on Miceli Tonight

NEW YORK (UP) — Middleweight Jackie LaBua of East Meadow, N.Y., who knocked Walter Cartier into permanent retirement three weeks ago at St. Nicholas Arena, returns to the nation's oldest fight club tonight for a 10-round bout with tough Joe Miceli of New York.

LaBua is a 7-5 favorite for the widely-televised bout.

Although never considered a devastating puncher, LaBua registered a third round technical knockout over Cartier at St. Nicks April 8, causing Cartier to hang up his gloves in favor of a television acting career. It was LaBua's 27th victory in 38 pro bouts. He has lost 11.

Miceli has met five former world champions during his 87-fight career, that includes 52 victories, 24 via the kayo route.

Pirates Blank Dodgers, 3 to 0

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates get a chance to look at the western clubs of the National League beginning Tuesday night when they launch a two-game series with the St. Louis Cardinals.

In posting a 4-7 record so far in the young season, the Pirates only have faced eastern clubs—New York, Brooklyn and Philadelphia. They closed out a three-game set with the Dodgers Sunday at Forbes Field by capturing the "rubber" game, 3-0, behind the seven-hit pitching of their ace, Bob Friend.

The slick righthander was the first pitcher to blank the Dodgers this season, but he needed some fine fielding help from Gene Freese and Billy Virdon to do it.

Brooklyn threatened to ruin Friend's shutout bid in the fourth inning. With a runner on first, big Gil Hodges powered a ball down the third base line which Freese threw himself at, recovered and fired Hodges out at first.

Later in the same inning, Roy Campanella hit a ball to the 450-foot mark in center field which Virdon hauled in after a long run for the final out. Brooklyn managed to get two of its 11 baserunners on base in the ninth, but Friend retired Gino Cimoli on a groundout to end the game.

Meanwhile, the Pirates broke up a scoreless tie in the fifth inning when Hank Foiles singled home Dick Groat. Then Groat drove in Pittsburgh's second run two innings later with a sacrifice fly after Freese led off with a triple.

The final run of the day crossed in the eighth when Frank Thomas laced out his third single of the afternoon to register Virdon, who had opened the frame with a double.

The victory extended Friend's Forbes Field mastery over the Dodgers through six games. He hasn't lost to Brooklyn here since Aug. 23, 1953.

Night Speed Limit For Des Moines

DES MOINES, Iowa (UP) — State police today sought clarification of Iowa's new 60 mph night speed limit.

A law that becomes effective July 4 says the limit will apply from sunset to sunrise. But because of seasonal variations in the hours of light, the attorney general will be asked to give drivers a more exact time during which the law will apply.

Steel Production Is Steady; Earnings Up

CLEVELAND (UP) — For the first time in many weeks, steel production for ingots and castings held steady at 90 per cent of rated capacity, Steel Magazine said today.

Up until the week ending April 21 the industrial output had been slipping at a rate of one-half of one per cent a week.

The 90 per cent output, lowest rate of the current year, yielded 2,303,500 net tons, the metalworking weekly said.

The publication's arithmetical base price composite of finished steel remained at $139.71 per net ton for the week ended April 24. Its price composite on steelmaking scrap at $42.50 per gross ton dropped 17 cents from the previous week.

Earnings Reported Up

First quarter earnings of most metalworking companies were reported higher than those of a year ago, and Steel predicted that metalworking profits may reach an all-time high during the current year if producers can maintain the present ratio of earnings to sales.

Smaller first quarter net profits as compared to 1956 were reported by only nine of 30 manufacturers listed in the weekly magazine. Only seven of 18 steelmakers reported net profit slumps from last year's totals. Reasons given for the reported decreases in net profit were rising costs and special problems by each firm.

The aircraft and electrical industries led the brightest profit forecasts, with substantial increases over last year. Aluminum and copper showed general declines for the first quarter of 1957.

Auto Pattern Changing

The weekly publication noted a changing trend in the pattern of annual car sales, and predicted the automobile industry would reach a possible maximum sales total of 6,100,000 with output slightly higher. Earlier predictions by executives in the automobile industry had set 1957's sales total at about 6,500,000 cars.

The trend, Steel said, is toward a constant year-round sales campaign, with auto makers beginning to spread steel buying throughout the year. The car manufacturers are reported buying steel on a need basis, thereby keeping inventory costs at a minimum. The piecemeal buying is possible in the auto industry because manufacturers don't have to stockpile against strikes or price hikes.

The magazine said most of General Motors' loss will be sustained by the Buicks, Olds and Chevy divisions. Ford is expected to increase from 28.2 to about 30 per cent of the market production, and Chrysler will probably rise from 17 to 20 per cent of the market, Steel said.

Despondent Artist Kills Self; Hopes Works Improve

GLENDALE, Calif. (UP) — A despondent debt-haunted artist committed suicide and left a wry note saying that perhaps his death would make his paintings more valuable, police said today.

William Millare, 37, shot himself in the head Saturday and left a note that read:

'My paintings don't meet the bills. Maybe my death will make them valuable enough.'

Officers said Millare killed himself with a 38 caliber pistol he brought with him to a dinner party at the home of friends. His wife Herdee, 31, said Millare was 'ever worried about pending bills he didn't have the money to pay.'

His paintings had been shown at local art galleries and at the county museum and some of his oils won high critical praise in 1951, yet Millare had been forced to work as an art instructor to make a living.

Nobel Prize Value

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, April 29 (UP) — Nobel prizes to be awarded this year will amount to $08,628 Swedish crowns ($41,720) each, the Swedish Nobel Foundation Board announced today. The prizes will be awarded in October.

Legion Post in Drive to Help Display of Flags

Harry L. Handel Post 401, American Legion of West Newton, opened a drive for flag display late last week. Legionnaires plan to visit every home and business establishment in the community in a campaign to insure the display of the flag on all holidays.

Those who own flags will be urged to display them. New flags will be offered at a reasonable cost to those who do not own one or whose flags are faded or torn.

Borough Council has approved the use of parking meter stanchions as support for the flags, as a great many of the holes in the sidewalk, formerly used, have been filled.

Merchants will be able to purchase 3 x 5 flags complete with 12 foot aluminum pole and clamps for use on the meters. Home owners will be offered a flag kit which includes a 3 x 5 flag, a 6 foot wooden pole, and a bracket which can be attached to a porch.

Linda Jo Rieser has been ill at her home on North Fourth St. for the past several days.

Joint Book Review Held by Church Groups

The Lutie Monath Missionary Society and the World Friendship Circle of Christ Evangelical Lutheran Church held a joint book review Friday evening in the parish house of the church.

The program was conducted by Mrs. Anna Mary Long, president of the Lutie Monath group. A hymn, followed by a special mission prayer and the Lord's Prayer, opened the program.

The book, "The Church in Southeast Asia" was reviewed. Participating were Margaret Bierwirth, Mrs. Barbara Schneidmiller, Mrs. Dorothy Zumbro, Geraldine Monath, Jean Rak, Betty Rak, and Mrs. Dorothy Thomas.

A brief social hour ended the evening's activites. Twenty eight members of both societies attended the review.

Adult Driver Training Planned

The West Newton School District announces the adult summer driver training program will begin on June 5. Each class will last two weeks and will include lectures, films, driving, and codebook examinations.

Those interested in registering for this program are requested to come to the high school office in person, or to phone no later than May 3.

Moose Lodge in Annual Election

The West Newton Moose Lodge No. 31 recently held election of officers. Those elected are as follows:

Governor, John Magill; Junior Governor, Arthur Kovaly; Prelate, Ralph Lavella; Treasurer, Rudolph Ludwig; and Trustee, Eugene Letterio.

All-day Meeting

The Women's Missionary Society of the United Presbyterian Church will hold an all-day meeting at the church on Thursday with Mrs. Allean Maxwell in charge of the program. Hostesses are Mrs. Jasper T. Scholl and Mary L. Campbell.

Ike and Dulles In Plea for Budget Funds

AUGUSTA, Ga. (UP) — President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles have mapped a plea for restoration of "the majority" of a House-approved cut in the State Department budget.

The President consulted Sunday by long distance telephone with Dulles, who is to go before the Senate Appropriations Committee Tuesday to ask that a $47,300,000 proposed slash be modified.

President Eisenhower, who plans to return to Washington from his golfing vacation Tuesday, issued a statement following his talk with Dulles saying he believed the cut would be "harmful to the United States and the conduct of foreign affairs."

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said Eisenhower and Dulles went over latest reports from the Middle East during their telephone conference.

Hagerty pointed out that the President earlier this year agreed that federal agencies should absorb budget cuts wherever possible but he thought the reduction of state's budget would threaten the department's basic operation.

The administration in January asked for $227,700.000 which the House reduced to $180,400,000.

35 on Trial in Italy in Theft From Mussolini

PADUA, Italy (UP) — Thirty-five persons, most of them former Communist guerrillas, went on trial here today on charges of murder, looting and embezzlement arising from the theft of Benito Mussolini's $900.000 fortune.

Only 34 defendants were present in court. The 35th, Communist legislator Dante Gorreri, has been a fugitive from justice for four years.

The trial is expected to last four to five months. More than 300 witnesses are scheduled to appear, including Mussolini's widow, three of their children and the sister of his murdered mistress.

The Fascist dictator and his mistress, Claretta Petacci, were killed in nearby Dongo 12 years ago Sunday by Red guerrillas who ambushed the German convoy that was trying to smuggle them out of the country.

No one is certain what became of the "Dongo treasure" — some $61.000 worth of gold and more than $800.000 in Italian, British, Spanish and Swiss currency that Mussolini was carrying with him.

A number of persons who apparently "knew too much" about the theft have been murdered in the years since the Mussolini fortune vanished.

Marilyn Has Friends With Soccer Players

NEW YORK (UP) — Actress Marilyn Monroe, official mascot of the Israel Hapoel soccer team, will kick the first ball in an international game May 12 between the Israeli team and a select all-star American team, it was announced Sunday.

Judge Samuel Leibowitz said he cabled the team asking what American they'd most like to meet and got this reply:

"As athletes we'd like to meet the Brooklyn Dodgers; as men, Marilyn Monroe." So they're meeting Miss Monroe — in the Dodgers' Ebbets Field.

Today in Congress—

Congressmen Return to Work; Many Still Want to Cut Budget

By UNITED PRESS

WASHINGTON (UP) — Congressmen returned to work today after sampling grass roots opinion during their 10-day Easter recess.

The layoff apparently produced a widening of the split between "modern" and "conservative" Republicans. Democrats had their own inter-party struggle over the civil rights issue.

And Congress began the second half of this year's session with fresh signs of a growing revolt among Republican leaders against President Eisenhower's legislative program.

The lawmakers' visits to home states apparently did little to cool the congressional ardor for cutting Eisenhower's budget and the economy sentiment jeopardized a number of the President's proposals.

Rep. John P. Saylor (D - Pa.) said his constituents wanted Congress to "apply a pick-ax instead of a scalpel" to the budget. Other economizers renewed their appeals for budget cuts and for tax relief.

Rep. Richard Simpson (R-Pa.), chairman of the Republican Congressional Campaign Committee, over the week end denounced the Democratic - steered Congress for not slashing deeper into the budget.

House GOP Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. (Mass.) during the recess urged "postponing" some of the new domestic legislation advocated by the President.

Other congressional news:

Ambassadors — Sen. Styles Bridges (R-N.Y.) said "every left-winger I know" is opposing the nomination of Scott McLeod, State Department security officer, as ambassador to Ireland. Bridges defended McLeod's nomination but said he would oppose that of Charles E. Bohlen, long-time ambassador to Russia, to be ambassador to the Philippines. The nominations will be taken up Tuesday by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Security — The Senate Internal Security subcommittee has made public testimony that two former aides to Nationalist Chinese officials, now working for Communist regimes, helped wreck the economy of Nationalist China. The testimony was given by Dr. Arthur N. Young, one-time adviser to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek. Young identified the two as Dr. Ludwig Rajachman, now Polish delegate to the United Nations; and Dr. Chao Ting-chi, now second-ranking official of the Communist Bank of China.

Ammunition — A Senate task force called on Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson to determine whether budget cuts in the past two fiscal years have cut down the ability of the armed services to carry out world-wide commitments. The group, a panel of the Senate Armed Services Preparedness subcommittee, specifically urged Wilson to find out if the services are getting enough conventional weapons.

Bellmar Junior-Senior Prom Is Held Friday at Marion

"Song of the South" was the theme for the annual Bellmar High School Junior-Senior Prom, held Friday evening in the gymnasium of the Marion Junior High School

The Junior Class members who were hosts for the affair, worked for more than a month to transform the gymnasium to a "bit of the Old South". Southern scenes were silhouetted on a pink background to cover the walls of the room and a canopy of crepe paper streamers made of the colors of the two classes, rose and white and gold and white covered the entire room. An arbor of roses formed the entry way for the guests and a trellis of roses separated the spectators from the dancers.

The evening's activities began with the grand march led by the officers of both classes and dancing was to the music of Eddie Warren's orchestra.

Refreshments were served on the stage of the gymnasium, which was transformed to represent an old southern mansion Steps were built to approach the "Mansion" from the dance floor and the entire scene was lighted by old fashioned street lamps, which were intermingled with artificial dogwood blossoms and branches that lined the walls intermittently.

The guest list included members of the faculty, school directors administrators and guests.

John Kopp is faculty sponsor of the Junior Class and directed the students in their work for the affair.

Only Person to Give Orders to Pope Pius Is Publicity-shy Nun

VATICAN CITY (UP) — The only person who gives orders to Pope Pius XII is a woman—a firm, publicity—shy Bavarian nun who runs his household from medicine cabinet to kitchen stove.

She is Sister Pasqualina, born 63 years ago Josefine Lehnert and for 40 years housekeeper to Eugenio Pacelli as priest, bishop, cardinal and pope.

Little is known about her.

Only two photographs of her exist—one a tattered passport photo taken years ago, the other a blurred shot snapped as she left a Roman hospital in 1952.

She has never allowed herself to be interviewed.

But today, as she shuffles silently in her black Franciscan nuns habit along the marble tiled corridors of the Vaticans private quarters, she plays a role perhaps as important as any woman in the world.

Guards Popes Health

She helps safeguard the health of the spiritual leader of the worlds 430 million Roman Catholics.

Despite the battery of physicians who attend the Pope, it is she who must supervise the day-to-day routine of his life, watching his diet, bringing him the medicine he might otherwise forget, seeing that he gets the rest he needs, curbing his tendency to drive himself to the limits of his endurance.

Sister Pasqualina first met Pacelli in a Benedictine abbey in Switzerland at Eastertime, 1914. The 37-year old priest — brilliant, serene, but chronically troubled by poor health—was there for a long rest and cure.

Sister Pasqualina, 19 at the time, was assigned to care for him. She brought order and regime into his life, setting up a daily schedule for him, strictly supervising his diet.

So impressed was he with her care that when he became Papal Nuncio at Munich, Germany, in 1917, she became his housekeeper. At that time he gave her the privilege none other now has—to order him around.

She has typed his letters and cooked his food, blending her own German cookery with Italian cuisine until his illness in 1954 put him on a simple diet. She sponges down his hands and the fisherman's ring after pilgrims kiss it in mass audience. She runs the care and cleaning of his ceremonial wardrobe.

She makes sure his desk is equipped with stationary and points for the old-fashioned pens he prefers. She slides silently in and out of his study while he is working, changing the hard white linen cuffs he wears to keep ink stains off his sleeves.

She sets up his schedule, and more than one astounded functionary has been shooed out of the papal library with, "via, il Papa e stanco (go, the Pope is tired)," if the audience crowded into the Pope's meal or rest hours.

The Pope and Sister Pasqualina speak German together, and she has brought a strong trace of Germany into the household. His two pet birds, for example, are named Dompfaff and Gretchen.

Her fretful, bustling energy and strong will have sometimes irked others at the Vatican. But none questions her selfless devotion to relieving the Pope of petty burdens.

American Woman Home from Israel

NEW YORK (UP)—An American woman who served a six-month term in an Israeli prison on an espionage conviction arrives here today.

Mary Frances Hagan, 29, of Huntington, W.Va., was released from prison Sunday. She was arrested last August and convicted Oct. 11 of violating Israel's official secrets act. She has denied she was ever a spy.

NICKERSON WAITS — Col. John C. Nickerson, Jr., 41, whiles away spare time with one of his sons, Dan, 5, at Redstone arsenal, Huntsville, Ala., while U. S. Army authorities consider dropping court martial proceedings against him. The colonel is scheduled to face the court May 15 on charge of "leaking" information, but the possibility that such an airing might do more harm than good is considered.

Newsman Presents His Case to Get Passport

WASHINGTON (UP)—Newsman William Worthy, who was refused a new passport after he went to Communist China in defiance of a government ban, tried today to persuade the State Department to reverse itself and grant him the passport.

He presents his case in a hearing before the State Department Passport Office. The controversy may eventually wind up in the courts if the department stands firm against renewing Worthy's passport.

Worthy was one of three American newsmen who late last year went to Red China despite a flat ban against all American travel to the Chinese mainland. The others were Edmund Stevens and Phillip Harrington of Look Magazine.

Worthy, an employe of the Baltimore Afro-American, applied for a new passport after his return to the United States. The State Department rejected his application on grounds he had acted in a manner "prejudicial to the interests of the United States" when he went to Communist China. The department also expressed fear he would "not abide by geographical limitations" which might be attached to a new passport.

Under State Department regulations Worthy was entitled to present additional information at today's informal hearing. If the department stands by its refusal he may appeal to the Board of Passport Appeals.

If the board's decision also is adverse his only other recourse would be an appeal to the courts. Worthy has said the American Civil Liberties Union would help him fight the battle in court if necessary.

Stevens now is at his regular news post in Moscow. He has been told he will be given a passport good only for return to the United States when he is ready to leave the Soviet capital.

Harrington is back in the United States. His passport has expired.

The American flag first was officially unfurled at George Washington's camp grounds at Middlebrook, N. H., in June 1777.

New Device to Help 'Piggybacks'

PHILADELPHIA (UP) —A new device designed to eliminate shock damage to highway trailers and their cargoes while being "piggybacked" on railway flatcars was on exhibit at the National Materials Handling Exposition which opened here today.

Manufacturers of the device, technically known as the Retractable Trailer Hitch, believe it will help eliminate the growing damage claims resulting from the increased use of "piggybacking", the practice of transporting trailers atop flatcars.

Mrs. Roosevelt Criticizes U. S. Policy in Israel

VINELAND, N. J. (UP) —Mrs Franklin D. Roosevelt charged Sunday that the United States's possessive attitude of "tremendous righteousness" in the Israel-British-French invasion of Egypt weakened the North Atlantic Treaty Alliance and allowed Russia to deal ruthlessly with the Hungarian rebellion.

Mrs. Roosevelt, addressing an Israeli bond campaign meeting here said "I never felt we could be absolved of blame because we did nothing. We behaved as though we were the only virtuous nation in the world and our allies were naughty children. We weakened NATO a great deal to the point where NATO was not strong enough to take any action in the Hungary crisis."

She called for "increased leadership and understanding by the American government in foreign affairs" and added, "we are now the one great nation standing against the Russians."

Concerning the British - French invasion of Egypt, Mrs. Roosevelt said "If we had been moving with energy and insistence I don't think they would have moved with force."

He Just Wanted To See Girl Friend

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Thomas Crutcher, 24, of Bridgeville, gets a chance in Morals Court today to explain the things he did in an effort to see his girl friend.

Police said Crutcher tried to visit Ann Yancy at the home of her sister and brother-in-law, but was refused entry.

Crutcher then fired a pistol in the ground, sent another shot into a wall of the house, broke a window and hit Miss Yancy with a stick, police said.

He was booked on charges of firearms violation, illegal entry and assault and battery.

Grandmother, Son Held In Theft of $13,000

NEW YORK (UP)—A 56-year-old grandmother and her 26-year-old ex-convict son celebrated his recent release from jail by robbing a supermarket owner of $13,000 and making off in his Cadillac, police charged today.

They were arrested Sunday. A second man also was seized and police were seeking a third man in connection with the holdup.

Held on charges of assault and robbery were Mrs. Edna MacDonald, 56; her son, John A. Mayas, 26, of Route 2 Middlebourne, W. Va., and Anthony T. Cirillo, 26, of Brooklyn.

Sought was Salvatore Piga, 35, who police said was the third man involved in the stickup.

According to police, Julius Tampleff was closing his Staten Island supermarket shortly before midnight Saturday when the three men, armed, entered and robbed him of $13,000 in bills, silver and checks. They then took his car keys and, with Mrs. MacDonald at the wheel, fled in Tampleff's cadillac.

Less than half an hour later, police, alerted by Tampleff, saw the car approach a ferry terminal and seized Mrs. MacDonald and Cirillo. Inside the car, police found the money and three loaded revolvers.

Mayas was picked up several hours later while walking along a street in downtown Manhattan.

Police said Mayas was released from jail in Middlebourne last week. They said Mrs. MacDonald met her son on his release from jail and drove him to New York.

Negro Church Is Dynamited In Birmingham

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (UP) — A dynamite explosion knocked out windows and a siding of a Negro church during a service Sunday night and another blast damaged a Negro civic leader's home. There were no injuries.

The explosions touched off in two sections of suburban Bessemer were the first dynamitings aimed at Negroes since the Rev. M. L. Shuttlesworth's home was demolished during a bus integration dispute last Christmas.

Police said they could find no possible immediate motive for the new dynamitings. Neither the Rev. G. W. Scott, pastor of the church, nor Asbury Howard, whose home was damaged, has been active in the integration drive led by Shuttlesworth.

Police said the first explosion was set off in an alley behind the Allen Temple Methodist Church while some 200 persons were there for worship. The Rev. Scott was not present at the time.

A short time later the second explosion went off at Howard's home several blocks away.

Heart Massage Victim Dies In McKeesport

MCKEESPORT, Pa. (UP) — William Blakley, 51, saved by surgery when his heart stopped beating on two occasions a week ago, lost his battle for life Sunday.

He died in McKeesport Hospital of the same heart condition which twice left him "with no outward sign of life."

Blakley, a steel worker, walked into the hospital emergency room a week ago and complained of pains in his chest. While he was being examined, he gasped and stopped breathing.

Surgeons opened a four-inch incision in the rib carriage below his heart and massaged the heart for 30 minutes until it resumed beating. Minutes later, Blakley began "turning blue" and another incision was made in his windpipe to free a clot halting the flow of blood into the heart.

Blakley had been given an even chance to survive following the operations.

Three Awards To Be Given To Reporters

NEW YORK (UP)—The Albert and Mary Lasker Foundation announced today the winners of three awards for outstanding reporting on medical research and public health during 1956.

The Albert Lasker Medical Journalism Awards will be presented on May 1 to:

Robert S. Bird of the New York Herald Tribune for a series of six articles on rising trends of venereal disease among teen-agers and aduls.

Roland H. Berg, medical and science editor of Look Magazine for an article, "The State of the Nations Health."

The Public Affairs Department, Columbia Broadcasting System and station WCBS-TV, New York for the documentary television productions "Out of Darkness" and "The Wassaic Story" dealing with mental illness and mental retardation.

The award lunch will be held at the Ambassador Hotel here with Jack R. Howard, president and general manager of the Scripps-Howard Newspapers and an awards juror, presiding, and Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for infantile paralysis, and Rep. John Fogarty (D-R.I.), as speakers.

Medical Assistants Elect New Officers

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — Mrs. Virginia Dougherty, Yeadon, Pa., was elected president of the Pennsylvania Association of Medical Assistants at a meeting here Sunday.

Mrs. Gloria Barnfather, representing Allegheny County, was elected president-elect.

Other officers named were Jane McNulty of Lackawanna County, vice president; Betty Hoover of Dauphin County, treasurer; Bricy Wendell of Dauphin County, recording secretary, and Mrs. Robert Sterns, Philadelphial corresponding secretary.

Aged Woman Is Struck by Train

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Mrs. Elizabeth Drew, 75, was killed Sunday when she was struck by a Pennsylvania Railroad passenger train near the suburban Wilkinsburg station.

A railroad brakeman, Michael Durick, said that shortly before the accident he saw the woman walking on the track and warned her to get off.

Male Dancers Get Short End of Stick

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP)—The Royal Ballet will shuffle onto TV tonight when NBC takes its whacks at "Cinderella."

And as is usual with these things, the male dancers will get the short end of the shuffle.

William Ewald

"It's an unfortunate thing," noted Michael Somes today, "but in ballet, the male dancer is pretty generally overlooked. Almost all of the good roles go to the women even though, I think, male dancing is more exciting to watch."

Somes, a dark-haired springy welterweight who'll caper as the prince in tonight's outing, has gamboled with his present company since 1934. The British unit was known as Sadler's Wells until last January when it was granted a royal charter and re-christened.

"You know, the very nature of being a good partner in ballet for the man is to be as inconspicious as possible. The man shouldn't really be noticed while the girl is at work and the less aware you are of him, the better," said Somes.

"Of course, this usually works in a bad way for us because often, everybody just forgets about us entirely.

"Another thing to remember is that if anything goes wrong, it's the man who is to blame. Well, that's what we're supposed to feel, anyway. If the girl makes a mess of it, goes mad or something and has a fall, the man is supposed to anticipate it. Otherwise, he's a bungler.,'

This weepy state of affairs in the dance, said Somes, has been with us for some time.

"The reason the girls have all the good parts is simply because more women have gone in for dancing than men," he said. "There has always been a certain amount of prejudice against male dancers although I must say, that prejudice is beginning to break down.

Ballet Training Rigorous

"One of the helpful things is that older male dancers are beginning to teach now. Only a man really can teach a boy to dance. And the fact that a man is teaching does away with the thinking that dancing is effeminate."

Effeminate, it is not, said Somes. "Ballet calls for the most rigorous kind of training," he said. "And it's not like training for boxing or baseball where you merely prepare yourself for a single event or a season.

"It means constant work all year round. But there's no doubt that there has been a sort of feeling about effeminacy in the past. I sensed it at first when I went into the Army and owned up to being a ballet dancer. But that quickly disappeared when the others saw I could hold my own on the assault course and other things."

Somes, who is married to one of the girls in the company, last danced here on TV when NBC showcased "The Sleeping Beauty."

"I played the prince in that one, too," said Somes. "It seems to be my fate. I've become a kind of expert on princes. And that's another sorepoint in my life. I would just love to be a villain in ballet. I just long to be the one, for a change, who loses out."

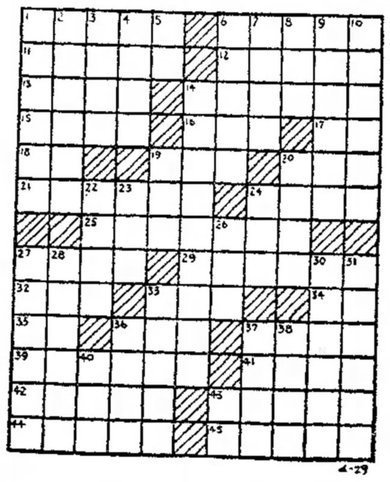
Saturday's Answer



Your Health—

Nation's Hospitals Have Too Few Beds

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

There are more hospital beds in the United States today than ever before. Yet, there aren't enough.

You will probably learn of this problem first hand when you try to arrange for entrance into a hospital. Except for emergency cases, patients often have to wait for admittance.

For a long time now, we have placed the desired number of general hospital beds at 4.5 per 1,000 persons in the nation. This, of course, is not an ideal number, but it is considered a standard measure of need.

We haven't quite reached the figure on a national average, but we are getting close. The Health Information Foundation reported recently that the national average is now 4.2 beds for every 1,000 persons. This represents an increase of 200 per cent over the 1909 ratio of only 2.5 beds.

Back in 1940, there were 19 states below the then national average of 3.5 beds and 39 states were under the accepted standard. As of last year, 21 states were below the new national average and only 28 were under the 4.5 ratio.

What does all this mean to you?

Well, if you live in the Mountain states, for example, you have a better chance of getting into a hospital on any particular date than you would if you lived in the East South Central states.

Utah and Mississippi have the fewest hospital beds, a 3.1 ratio.

The West North Central area has 4.6 beds; the Middle Atlantic, 4.3; the Pacific, 4.3; New England, 4.2; East North Central, 4.1; South Atlantic, 4.0; and the West South Atlantic, 4.0.

As the Foundation points out, an inadequate number of beds not only can cause delays in admitting patients, but it may even make a certain number of admissions impossible, thus lowering the effectiveness of hospital care in the community.

Pricedale Union Church Group Meeting Friday

The J.I.M. Class of Pricedale Union Church met Friday at the church with Eva Williamson as leader. Prayers were offered by Clarence Bush, Mary Worrell, Mary Echart, Elizabeth White and Eva Williamson.

Mrs. Echart, Mrs. Williamson and Mr. Bush also took part in readings. Hymns were sung and roll call was answered with a Bible verse.

Business was in charge of Mrs. Worrell, president. Reports were read by Camille Popp, secretary, and Violet Baldwin, treasurer. It was announced that the ladies will clean the recreation hall Thursday morning and evening.

Lunch was served from tables with the Easter motif. Serving were Goldie Perney, Agnes Patterson and Annie Bush. Hostesses for the next meeting will be Mrs. Worrell and Mrs. Popp. Others present were Janet Patterson, Mary Bush, Mary Carnes, Dorothy and Marilynne Bush, Susan Naylor, Clara Perney and Dorothy Ann Worrell.

Trustees Gather At Webster Church

The Men's Bible Class and trustees of Webster Presbyterian Church met Thursday at the home of Fred Riedel. Elmer Gillingham was devotional leader and also in charge of the business session.

Reports were read by Teddy Leonard, secretary, and Fred Riedel, treasurer. Pete Cupples, Jr., gave a report on the water situation and powder room to be installed in the church. A light will be placed on the organ, it was decided.

Lunch was served by Mrs. Margaret Riedel. Others present were Pete Cupples, Sr., David England, John Shepler, Sam Colisimo, William Maurer. The next meeting will be held at the home of Charles Ritchie.

Brotherhood of Olive Branch in Friday Banquet

The Men's Brotherhood of Olive Branch Church held its annual father-son banquet Friday at the church social rooms.

The meeting opened with prayers by the Rev. Henry Frank, after which supper was served by the What-So-Ever Class of the church.

Bruce Skinner, president, presided and introduced L. A. Carter, speaker. Ronald Morgan led group singing. Mr. Frank closed with prayer.

During the business session that followed, the men decided to hold a supper for wives and ladies of the church on May 24 in the social rooms. The men will prepare and serve the dinner.

Others present were Harold and Calvin Lynn, H. Johnson, James Porter, George Miller, Glenn, Melvin and Ardo Shupe, Frank Lynn, Hugh Gallo, William Merritt, Alvin Branthoover, Bruce Skinner, George Melenyzer and James Patterson. Most of the men were accompanied by their fathers or sons.

School Registration In Twp. Tomorrow

Pre-school registration will be held in Rostraver Township tomorrow.

Parents with children who will be six years old before Feb. 1, 1958, are to register their children at that time. Further information can be had by contacting the respective elementary schools.

Mrs. Doris Bush, Mrs. Mary Echart and Gwen Wood visited Saturday with Mrs. Clarence Echart, a patient in Monongahela Memorial Hospital.

Navyman George Pollock is visiting with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Ted Makousky. He is stationed at Norfolk, Va.

Dick Shaffer, of R. D., Belle Vernon, is a patient in Charleroi-Monessen Hospital with an injured foot.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Echart, of Sweeney Plan, are the parents of a son born Saturday in Memorial Hospital, Monongahela. This is their second son and fourth child. The newcomer weighed eight pounds.

Cause and Effect In San Antonio

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UP)— A mass meeting of citizens called to protest poor drainage that last week caused flash floods had to be postponed Sunday.

The reason: More flash floods.
